B. C. FORBES foresees keen automobile competition in 1928 with lower prices for good cars, higher quality for lower prices.

Cars of 100-horsepower will be sold below $2,000 and one manufacturer will even cut Henry Ford's new low prices.

As Ford himself said, "Anybody that can sell as good a car for less money or a better car for the same money will get the business." The public will buy five million cars this year. Knowing that it is getting the best in value and price that industrial genius can produce.

HORRIBLE news from Bagdad reminds you even war has improved. The Sheik Feisal el Dowish raided another tribe, killed every male including children, carried off all property, leaving miserable women of the tribe to starvation.

NOT so long since all war was more or less like that. Conquered cities were turned over to victorious armies for pillage and murder. Recent wars among so-called civilized races have not purposely killed children or noncombatants. Europe can rise from the latest war calamity because women are left to rebuild the nations.

The next war unfortunately may tell a story that would make Sheik Dowish seem kindhearted. War from the air with explosives and gases suffocating and destroying will be a war without discrimination or mercy. Human intelligence could prevent it. But it must make arrangements before intelligence disappears, in the fierce hatred that comes with the war spirit.

IF YOU have daughter, sister or wife struggling to develop "a boyish silhouette" by starving, tell her tuberculosis is increasing because women foolishly desire to be thin.

In the past, women have had cancer more often than men, but men have more often had tuberculosis.

By some doctors this was called the only good result of tight corsets. Consumption usually forms in the apices, the top part of the lungs that in men are usually not sufficiently inflated and supplied with oxygen—women squeezing their waists were compelled to breath high up and thus protected the apices.

The modern slumped down posture in girls and women has done away with that protection.

THE late Gavin McNab, an ex- [illegible] Francisco, leaves $40,000 to two clients to make up for McNab's bad advice about investments.

It is fortunate for the heirs of certain gentlemen in and out of Wall Street that such bequests are not customary or compulsory. If Wall Street gentlemen had to make good losses caused by bad advice on investments there would not be much left for legal heirs.

REPORTS to the French minister of agriculture show that a great desert is forming in the Argentine, rivers and springs disappearing, great sand storms sweeping considerable regions and the desert area steadily increasing. Presumably, however, the energetic Argentine republic will know how to deal with that problem.

SIMILAR desert growths like great sores on Mother Earth, have spread over the land in ancient times in the past when men were helpless. Present arid conditions in Palestine and areas stripped of fertile soil in once all-fertile Mesopotamia show scars of ancient affliction.

These sicknesses of our old earth will be no longer a menace when men obtain power unlimited from sun, tides or atomic energy. Then, instead of deserts, gardens will spread over the earth.

FLYING from one small Central American republic to another, Lindbergh finds, even in a little capital city high up in the mountains, a flying field, where he can land, close to the center of population. In his own country he visits many great cities that possesses no nationally or municipally owned flying fields. These cities include New York and Los Angeles. Two cities that in war would depend entirely upon flyers for protection.

SECRETARY HOOVER summarizes the past year as regards wages and employment thus: "There was little unemployment except during a moderate recession near the end of the year and the rate of real wages remained higher than anywhere else in the world, or than in any other time in the world's history. The high prospect of the year did not represent merely an upward swing in the business cycle, but was the result of that general and permanent progress which has marked the nation's business."

That is a situation for American business men to keep in their minds, thus avoiding damaging, doubtful hesitation. Business and prosperity in this country have climbed to a permanently higher plane and will stay there.

As James Speyer, intelligent New York banker, says, "Prosperity is our natural condition, not anything unusual, or anything to worry about."

"And Glory guards, with solemn round, the Bivouac of the Dead."

NAVY DIVERS RETRIEVE SUBMARINE VICTIMS

THREE bodies were taken from the submarine S-4 yesterday in 120 feet of water off Cape Cod, where the submersible has lain since being rammed by the Coast Guard Cutter Paulding December 17. They were identified as Lieut. Commander Roy K. Jones, the sub's commander, of Hennessey, Okla.; Lieut. D. A. McGinley, of Norristown, Pa., and Chief Machinist's Mate Aaron Albert Hodges, of Riverside, Cal. Rough seas today prevented divers from resuming work. Aboard a destroyer, the bodies of the three dead were taken in solemn naval ceremony to Chelsea Naval Hospital, with a sailor standing guard over the flag-draped bodies of his fellow service men, who kept their rendezvous with death.

2 REBEL NIGHT CLUBS CLOSED

CASTLE GARDEN, CARLETON HIT

Night club proprietors who flouted the orders of Public Safety Director James M. Clark to close their places at 11:45 o'clock New Year's eve are paying for their disobedience. Two cabarets, Carlton Terrace, Liberty avenue and Tenth street, and Castle Gardens, Wylie avenue, have been closed.

Director Clark announced that he had revoked their permits. The proprietors of the Nixon Restaurant, Flotilla Club and Bamboo Inn were penalized for disregarding the police orders. The Flotilla Club, the most severely punished, will not be permitted to hold dances or shows until January 14. The Nixon Restaurant and Bamboo Inn will be allowed to resume dancing Saturday night.

The wide discrepancies in reports of city detectives and police lieutenants on the closing of cabarets and night clubs New Year's eve are being investigated today by Director Clark. Ten detectives, detailed to the five cabarets penalized, whose reports are directly opposed to those of the lieutenants, will be asked by Director Clark to render an accounting.

Director Clark, with Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh, read the riot act to the violators yesterday, when he summoned them to his office.

"When I issue an order, I expect it to be carried out," the Director said. "You men probably thought I was kidding when I ordered your places to be closed. Well, I was not, and the action which I am taking today speaks for itself."

Director Clark warned the cabaret proprietors that in the future they must play square with him. "If not, your permits will be revoked," he said.

Director Clark said that permits to resume operation were issued to Kleman's Inn, Danceland, Webster Hall, Paris Inn, New China Restaurant, Charles Sparano and Venice Restaurant.

"These places closed according to my orders, and permits have been issued them," Director Clark said. The permits to these places had been held up by the director until he read reports of their New Year's Eve activities submitted to him by police and city detectives.

OIL TANK IGNITES AS WORKMEN THAW LINE

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 5.—Workmen thawing an oil line caused an explosion which ignited a 600-barrel tank of oil on the S. P. McCalmont estate lease at Renox Bridge yesterday. Flames shot 40 feet in the air. Firemen of the Atlantic Refining Company kept the blaze from spreading to another tank 100 feet away.

PREACHER WILL CLEAR ME, SAYS RUTH ELDER

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Find the man! That was Ruth Elder's cry today. Find the Rev. Shuford Jenkins, she urged.

The itinerant evangelist who entered and left her life in a Georgia village four years ago can establish her innocence of the charges involving her with him, she said today.

Tearful, almost hysterical, she spent many minutes on the long-distance telephone just before leaving Canton, O., to fill a vaudeville engagement in St. Louis. In her talk she authorized her New York representative, Harry Reichenbach, to issue a further denial of the charges.

The famous girl flyer said she did not know why charges had been filed. And, having been made, she said she could not understand why a warrant that could have been served four years ago was withheld until December 20, when she dropped off in Atlanta en route to a reception in her home town, Anniston, Ala.

"Malicious spite work!" she snapped over the telephone. "Small town, small-mind gossip venting itself on me now because I am in the public eye and making a little money. If they find the preacher, he, too, will be indignant and clear me."

Up to late last night, however, there was no trace of the evangelist.

Meanwhile, the sheriff of Rabun County, Ga., has recorded the receipt of $500 from Miss Elder. She

A new Ruth has arisen to rule the worlds' aviatrixes. She is Ruth Nichols, Rye, N. Y., society girl, who yesterday flew from New York to Miami in the first non-stop flight between the two cities. During the 20-hour journey she was at the controls for one five-hour stretch and for two shorter periods.

Blows, Not Notes, Delivered by Opera Stars

SZEGEDIN, Hungary, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—A great commotion was caused at the opera last night when, in full view of the audience, the popular tenor, Javor, slapped the face of the prima donna, Zochfhegewi three times. She fainted, and in falling broke her arm.

Javor had secretly hummed an anti-Semitic song in the prima donna's car and her reprimand angered him.

TRIO FACE RUM PLOT CHARGES

Federal warrants were issued today for the arrest of three members of the police committee, Sharpsburg borough council, charged with conspiring to violate the national prohibition law and with unlawful transportation of whisky.

The accused councilmen are Frank W. Fair, chairman of the police committee; Frank Terasi and William Harris.

The three defendants appeared at the United States Commissioner's office and furnished $1,000 each for a hearing next Thursday.

Chairman Fair said that th case is a frame-up.

The complaint filed before the United States Commissioner by Joseph A. Frayne, assistant prohibition administrator in charge of the enforcement unit under Administrator John D. Pennington, is based on allegations made in an affidavit by Police Lieut. Rocco Belsito of Sharpsburg.

Kidnaping 'Mystery'

DANIEL DeSHANTZ

Police said Daniel DeShantz, 6, of 4730 Juniper street, Bloomfield, was kidnaped. He was reported so by the boys' father, Patrick DeShantz. According to Daniel's grandmother, Mrs. Rose Baronelli, the boy's mother, Marie DeShantz, had the boy "kidnaped" because her husband refused to provide a home for them. The boy is safe with his mother, who is employed as a domestic in an East End home, according to Mrs. Baronelli. Police are investigating.

RUTH, JUDD PLAY LAST TRUMP

By RAYMOND I. BORST,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 5.—Guarded by state troopers, Gov. Alfred E. Smith this afternoon heard the last pleas for the lives of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and her paramour, Henry Judd Gray.

Unless the Governor interferes, Mrs. Snyder and her former lover will go to their death in the electric air one week from tonight.

The executive chamber was crowded to capacity when the Governor opened the hearing at 12:13 o'clock.

CROWDS AT HEARING

Legislators, state officials, men and women from all walks of life were at the hearing. Mrs. Smith, wife of the Governor, and a party of friends were present.

Mrs. Josephine Brown, mother of Mrs. Snyder, and Mrs. Margaret Gray and Mrs. Margaret Logan, mother and sister of Gray, respectively, were seated only a few feet from Gov. Smith.

Edgar F. Hazelton, counsel for Mrs. Snyder, opened the hearing by saying he was certain the Governor would render a "God-fearing decision."

"I am advised by a psychiatrist that Mrs. Snyder comes clearly within what we might call the twilight zone of insanity," Hazelton told the Governor.

Hazelton said Mrs. Snyder was only "partly responsible" for her wrong doings.

"What kind of a class are you going to put Ruth Snyder in?" Hazelton asked "Surely not in the class of the gunman."

Hazelton suggested that before the Governor renders his decision he talk about the case to George McLaughlin, former police commissioner of New York City.

Hazelton told the Governor that he believed that the fact that Mrs. Snyder suffered a sun-stroke and a severe fall when a child had much affect on her after life.

"PATHOLOGICAL" CASE

"I have been advised by my alienists that both Mrs. Snyder and Gray are pathological cases," Hazeltone declared.

"Capital punishment is on the wane in New York state and in a few years the electric chair will

FLAMES ROUT SCORE NORTH SIDE FAMILIES

UPHOLSTERING PLANT DAMAGED $35,000

A three-alarm fire, routing a score of families, raged through the two upper floors of the four-story brick building of the Colonial Upholstering Company, Warfield street and Sawmill way, North Side, early this morning, causing damage estimated between $25,000 and $35,000.

For nearly two hours the flames, fanned by a heavy wind from the Allegheny River, roared through the building and threatened to sweep across the narrow street to residences.

After two fire towers flooded the interior of the burning building, firemen raised ladders and attempted to enter the place, but were forced back when the flames flared anew.

The blaze was fought from the roofs of houses on Sawmill way.

The cause of the fire was not learned. Chief Frank Loxterman said the damage to the building alone would amount to $25,000. A further estimate, he said, would depend upon the value of the materials stored therein.

A building on the same site, which was formerly occupied as the bean plant of the H. J. Heinz Company, was destroyed by fire 12 years ago.

9 FORCED OUT

Bruno Witalski's family had a hectic breakfast at their home, 1108 Reedsdale street, North Side, today, caused by a fire of unknown origin which started on the second floor and swept into the attic.

Witalski, who conducts a bakery in the rear of his home, was making deliveries; Peter Cooper, a roomer, was asleep on the second floor, while Mrs. Witalski, their twin daughters, Julia and Mary, 18; Stella, 8, and sons, Sigmund, 16, and Edward, 12, were at breakfast on the first floor. With Stanley Kochanowski, 40, and his son, John, 14, roomers also, they fled into the street while firemen extinguished the blaze.

RAPS U. S. NICARAGUA POLICY

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A new demand for an investigation into American activities in Nicaragua was made today by Senator Wheeler (D.), of Montana.

Wheeler charged the "executive department of the government" with "usurping the powers of Congress by declaring war in Nicaragua." He sponsored a resolution to authorize an inquiry by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee into the American occupation to find out "who ordered the marines there and why they haven't been neutral."

The inquiry also would involve all American concessions and investments in Nicaragua. No action was taken on the resolution.

ASSAILS U. S.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 5.—(INS)—The charge that American marines have killed 200 Nicaraguans in their operations against Gen. Sandino rebels in the region of Ocotal was made today by Dr. Pedro Zapeda, envoy to the Nicaraguan revolutionists here.

Dr. Zapeda made a bitter attack upon the American occupation in Nicaragua and declared that "while the people of Nicaragua are preparing to welcome Col. Lindbergh, the field of Segovia is again drenched with the blood of Gen. Sandino's patriots."

REBELS UNDER COVER

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—Hard hit by clashes with American Marines last Friday and on Sunday, the rebel forces of Augustino Sandino are keeping well under cover and no battle is regarded imminent at El Chipote, the rebel stronghold, for the present.

Col. Mason Gulick, commander of the Marine forces here, said today that the rebels had not been seen for the past few days and that their defeat appeared more severe than was first reported. Reinforcements have arrived at all the Marine garrisons in Nueva Segovia, scene of the fighting and all is reported quiet in that region. The American wounded will be evacuated shortly.

Sandino is believed to have gone to El Chipote, which is about 18 miles from Quilali, his captured headquarters, but this is not certain.

REGAIN $170,000 STOLEN GOODS

Stolen goods valued at more than $170,000 were restored to owners in Pittsburgh who were victims of burglars and bandits during the last year, according to the annual report of Clyde Edeburn, chief of the Bureau of Detectives. In addition, the detectives recovered 4,539 of 5,122 stolen automobiles, and the Missing Persons Bureau, a division of Edeburn's bureau, found 2,912 individuals reported missing.

Such are the "high spots" in a report of the detective bureau's year of record-breaking activities. The figures sum up the work of 46 detectives—10 in the homicide squad, 10 in the motorcycle division and the others in precinct or general assignment work.

During the year there were 1,514 arrests. Of these, 621 paid fines amounting to $22,560, 545 were held for court and 298 were discharged. The number of complaints investigated was 4,729.

The homicide squad, under Lieut. David Corbett, investigated 70 murders, and made 59 arrests. Of these, nine were exonerated by the coroner, six were acquitted, three were convicted of first degree murder, two of second degree murder, and four of manslaughter. Thirty-five cases are pending.

The pawn division, under Lieut. John Morgan, recovered valuables worth $57,091. These figures are included in the total of stolen goods returned.

ROUT SAFE ROBBERS IN FIGHT, ESCAPE

YEGGS SHOOT OFF HAT OF PURSUING OFFICER

Patrolman Frank Linder of the Woods Run station had a narrow escape from death early this morning when his hat was shot from his head during a gun battle with three robbers whom he had detected in the act of looting a safe in the Reedsdale Pharmacy at Reedsdale and Manhattan streets, North Side.

Linder exchanged several shots with the robbers after they had fought their way to the street from the store. The men escaped after a chase of more than five blocks, in which Linder, Lieut. Robert J. McIntosh and Patrolman Roy Sullens took part, each firing at the fleeing men.

It is not known whether anything was obtained by the robbers. They had gained entrance by jimmying a rear door.

be a thing of the past and we all will be glad of it," he continued.

"The execution of a woman is revolting and I believe you must feel that way in your heart. If we are to allow the strict letter, she must be condemned, but what will be best?

"I appeal to you for sympathy, Governor, because your heart is filled with the milk of human kindness.

"I ask you to give us the benefit of this twilight zone of insanity, and I ask you to have the psychiatrists come before you and tell you just what is the matter with Mrs. Snyder.

"This case has brought about a terrible feeling against the electric chair."

Hazelton said he knew for a fact that one member of the state's lunacy commission had, after the commission had held Mrs. Snyder and Gray as sane, told friends that both condemned persons "might be pathological."

"I commend my client to your heart and to your wisdom, but above all to your conscience," Hazelton said as he concluded his brief plea.

Dana Wallace, of counsel for Mrs. Snyder, in a brief speech, asked the Governor to study the case carefully to determine if Mrs. Snyder had a fair trial.

"I believe that Judd Gray, from the time of his arrest told the exact truth," said Judge William J. Millard, counsel for Gray. "When he emerged from that hazy state of mind that he had been in for some time, he was anxious to tell the truth."

"It was a sorry day when those two souls met," said Millard. "The unquenchable fire in Ruth Snyder so twisted her mental condition that there is no doubt in my mind that she should have been in an institution long ago.

"When that unquenchable fire struck Judd Gray, he fell an easy prey, and he gradually became her victim. Because of sexual excesses and other excesses he was acting only as a manniken in her hands.

"How tragic that those two souls should have met. The association of those two souls ended in a delirum and murder."

RUTH MAKES WILL

SING SING PRISON, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder, on the verge of collapse in a death house cell, wrote her will early today, naming her mother and 9-year-old daughter, Lorraine, beneficiaries, as attorneys appeared in Albany to plead with Gov. Smith to spare her life.

The first paragraph reads:

"In the name of God, Amen. I, Ruth Brown Snyder, now under judicial surveillance, being of the belief that I am of sound and disposing mind, do make this my last will and testament, considering the uncertainties of life."

In three paragraphs that follow she lists all her worldly belongings, decreeing that they be equally divided between her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, and her daughter.

In legal phraseology the introduction to a will usually reads "being in sound mind," but Mrs. Snyder's qualified "belief" that she is of sound mind leaves an opening for her attorneys to press an argument that she is insane.

VARE-WILSON VOTES ORDERED SEIZED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—Subpenas commanding the removal to Washington of the remainder of the ballots cast in the Vare-Wilson senatorial contest in Pennsylvania in 1926, were issued today by the Senate Privileges and Elections Committee.

This step was taken after conferences between Chairman Shortridge and counsel for William S. Vare, the successful Republican candidate, and William B. Wilson, his Democratic opponent. It is preliminary to starting the count of all of the ballots cast in the election which Wilson now is contesting.

Mr. Wilson was given permission to file an amended petition of contest within the next 10 days and the committee probably will defer the beginning of the count at least until that has been received.

Ballots and other documents used in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties already are in possession of the Senate, having been seized last year by the special campaign funds committee.

FALLS DEAD IN JAIL CELL

After falling from a bench in a cell in the Frankstown Avenue Police Station early this morning, Harry S. Niedhammer, 40, of 141 Mayflower street, was found to be dead when he was removed to the Pittsburgh Hospital. At the coroner's office the opinion was expressed that death was caused by a chronic ailment and not by the fall. Neidhammer was being held on a morality charge for Alderman Samuel McKinley of 7714 Frankstown avenue. A post-mortem examination, ordered by the coroner, revealed that death was caused by asphyxiation due to insuffiation of blood from a fracture of the nose. The cause of the fracture was undetermined.

torney Ralph H. Smith and Frayne, alleges that the three councilmen objected to the destruction, because it was "too good," of 76 quarts of whisky, seized by the Sharpsburg police, on orders of Burgess Walter T. Werner. Instead, according to the lieutenant, the whisky bottles were carried away from the borough building in Fair's automobile.

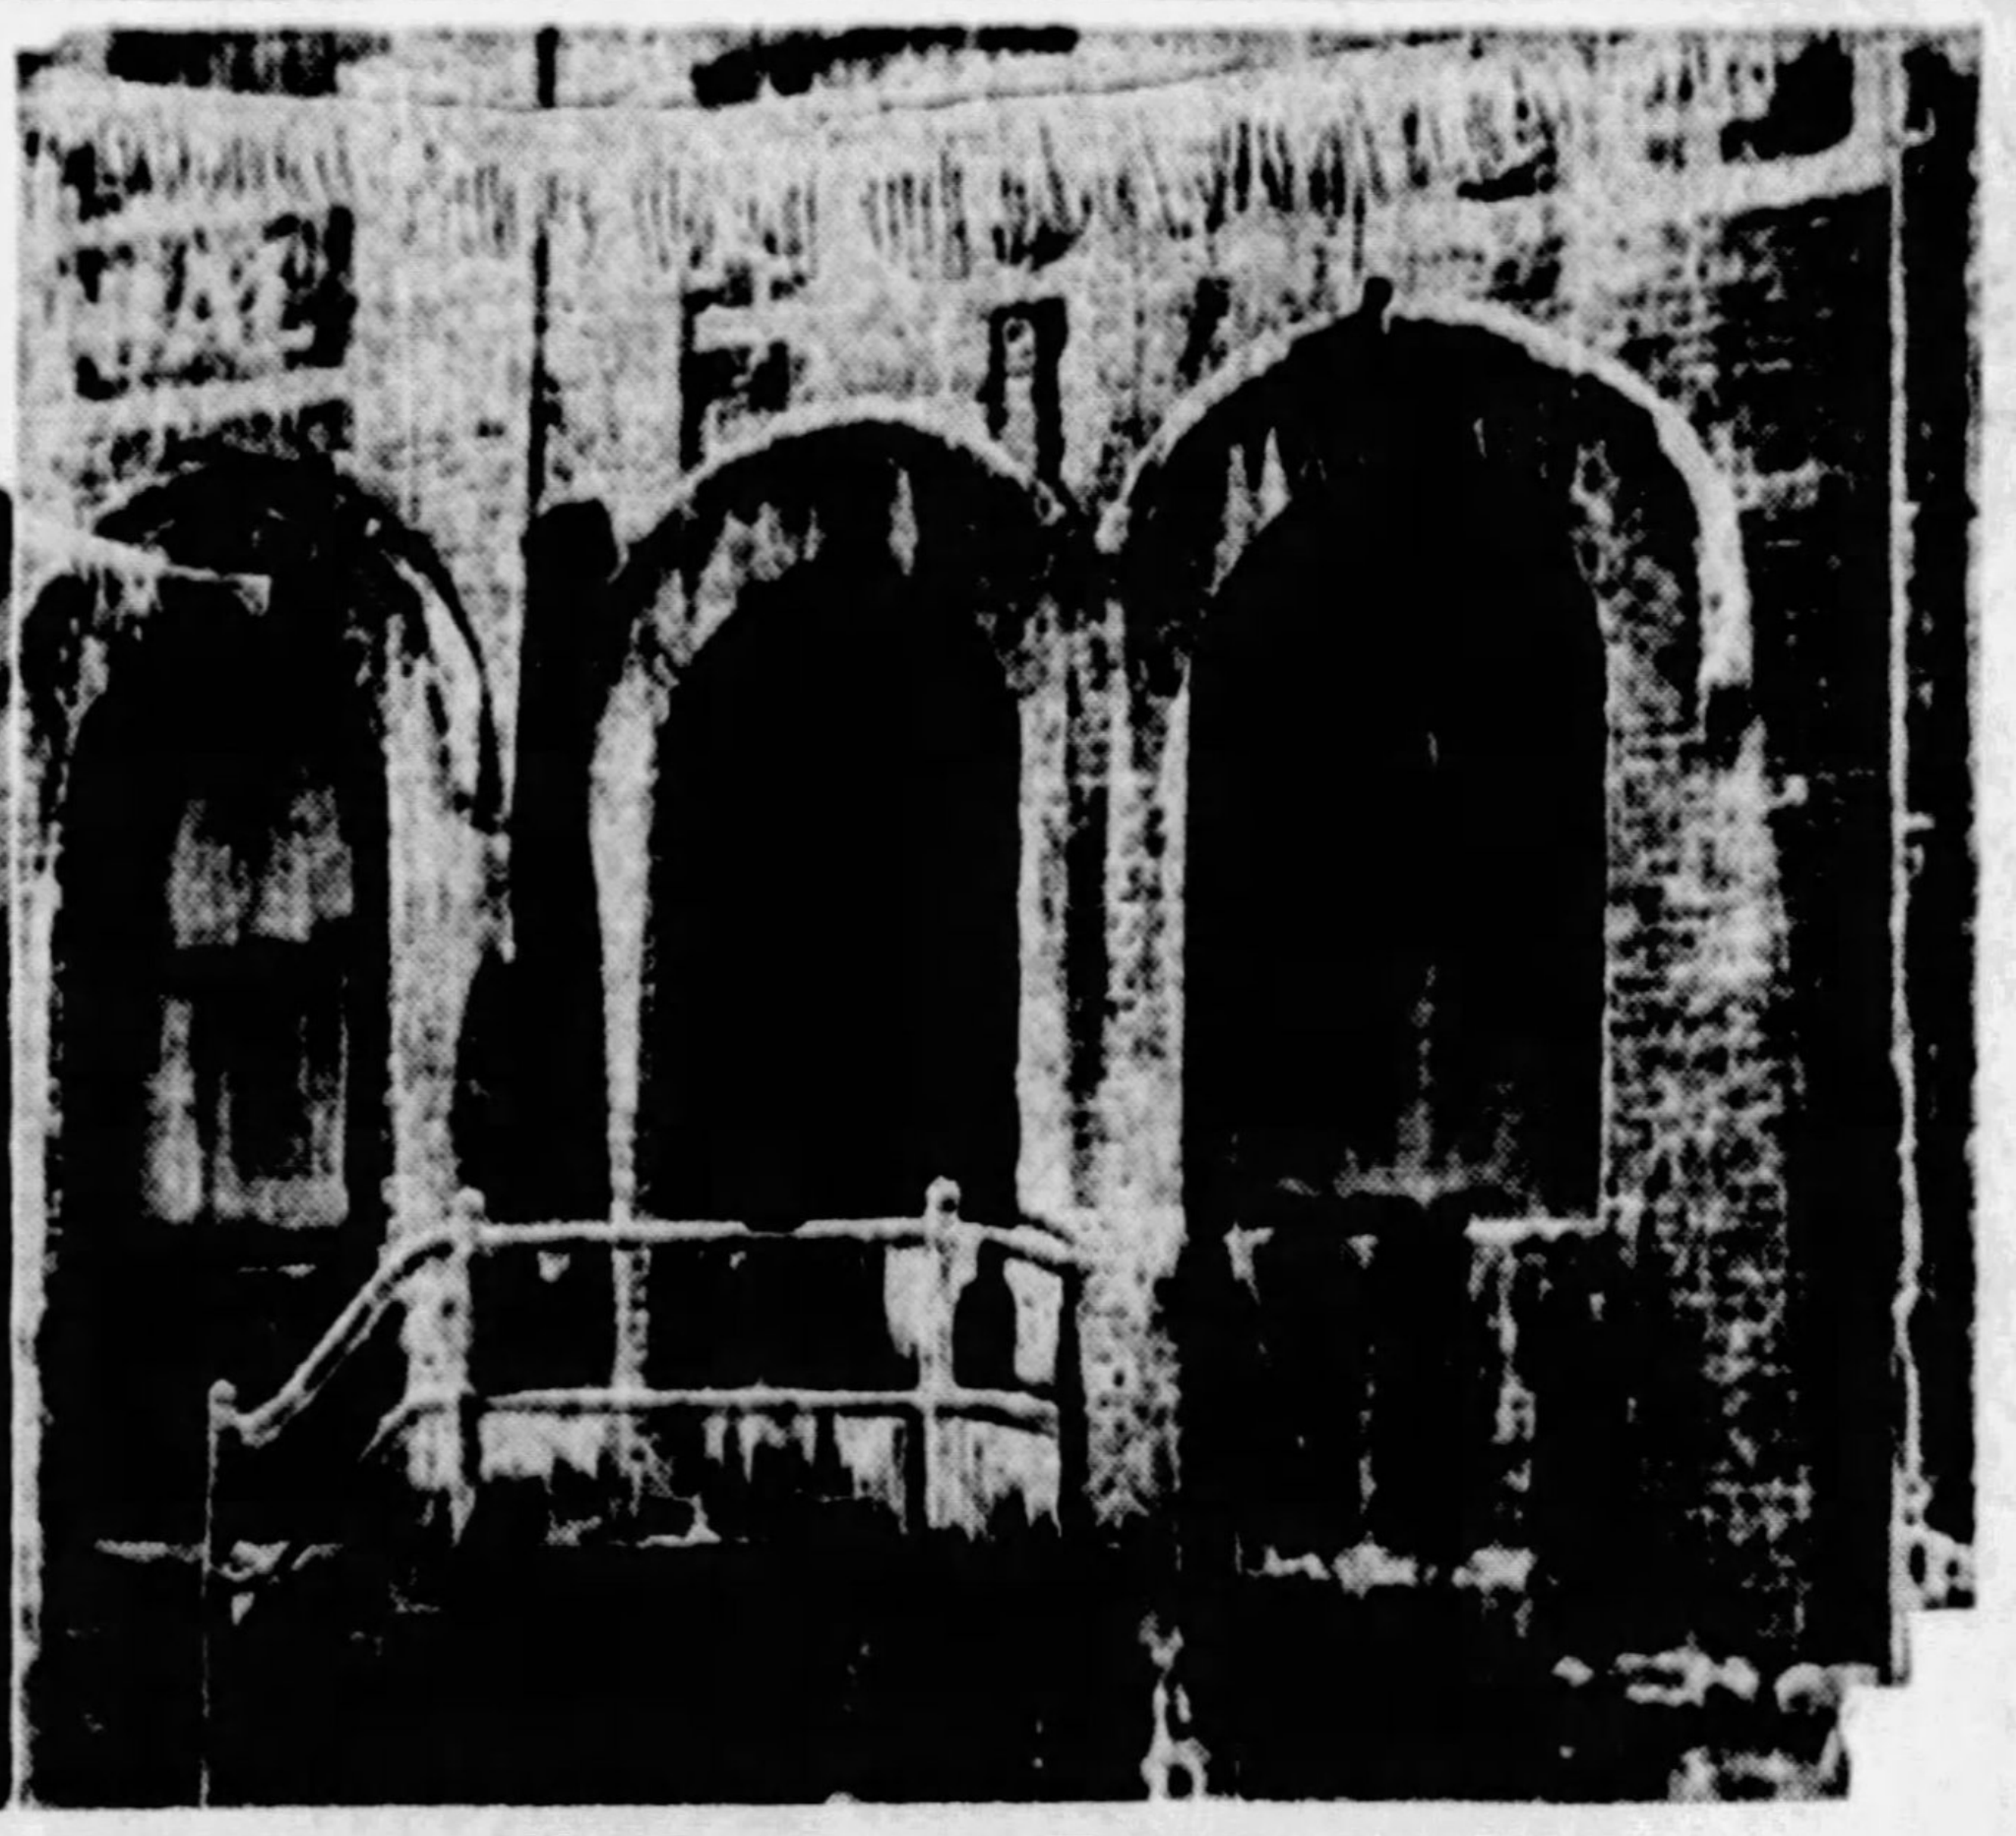
According to Lieut. Belsito's affidavit, Burgess Berner, on March 22, in the presence of Police Chief Patrick Dolan and himself, informed the police committee that the case had been disposed of and the liquor should be destroyed. Belsito said the councilmen objected and divided it among themselves in the presence of Burgess Berner and Chief Dolan and then carried it away in Fair's automobile. Belsito said he saw the machine stop in front of Harris' residence, where one of the burlap bags, in which the bottles had been wrapped, was taken out, and the machine continued on its way.

HELPING HAND

Mrs. Theresa Dix and Mrs. Anna Purgarth, of 300 Warfield street, ordered from their homes by police when the flames threatened to spread, remained to serve hot coffee and food to firemen who workd through the night in ice-coated garments.

FORCED OUT

Several families living in Sawmill way were ordered from their homes by police squads. Charles Gerage, 853 Progress street, holding his son, Sebastian; Theresa Colosimo, 845 Sawmill way; Patrica Gerage, Joseph Colosimo, standing; Frank Colosimo, Dorothy and Joseph Gerage; Sophie Gerage holding her daughter, Dina, and Mrs. Rose Colosimo holding her son, Joseph, are shown left to right.



FLAMES BAFFLE FIREMEN

For nearly two hours the hot blaze bested North Side and downtown fire companies. Ice-coated firemen raised ladders to the third and fourth floors, but were forced down as flames, temporarily subdued by a water barrage from fire towers, flared anew.

GIRL MAKES N. Y.-MIAMI NON-STOP FLIGHT

Ruth Elder HEROINE OF TRANS-OCEAN PLANE ATTEMPT Accused WITH SMALL TOWN EVANGELIST

THE DAILY PICTORIAL THE SUN TELEGRAPH GENERAL NEWS SECTION
THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1928

BEAUTY CONTEST WINNER

In 1925 Ruth Elder won a beauty contest at Lakeland, Fla. It was her first bid for fame.

PROVES HER METTLE

Two years later she proved she had courage and sheer nerve as well as beauty, by attempting a transatlantic flight in her plane "American Girl."

IN BRILLIANT FAILURE

She failed. But through no fault of her pilot, George Haldeman. In one of most brilliant flying achievements of history, Haldeman brought his plane, with a damaged oil line, safely down beside a steamer, which rescued him and his passenger.

WELL—MR. RUTH ELDER

Her husband, Lyle Womack, came from Panama, where he is employed, to welcome her when she returned to America.

IN PITTSBURGH

Here is a photograph of Ruth, taken in the William Penn Hotel. Pittsburgh was one of the last places visited by Ruth before her "buggy ride" which Shufold Jenkins, Georgia evangelist, was dragged up to haunt her. "Nothing wrong—just malicious lies," is her brief reply to the charge of misconduct.

Maybe Lindy Can Outdo Marines, Will Remarks

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 5.—Lindy lands in Nicaragua today. He has kept us out of wars. Now we will see if he can get us out of one after we are already in it.

WILL ROGERS

That's asking a good deal of the boy. If we would get out of there and let the Nicaraguans alone they might like us by the time we got ready to build the canal.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

DROWNS 2 TOTS, SELF IN TUB

By Universal Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 5.—Mrs. Letta Irwin, 67, yesterday drowned her granddaughters, Irene Shonle, 5, and Elizabeth Shonle, 18 months, at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Shonle, and then drowned herself.

Mrs. Shonle, returning from a club meeting, found the bodies in the bathroom of their home here.

Police believe that the grandmother, who had been ill for several weeks, became suddenly insane. The body of the younger child was laying on a table in the bathroom. The older child and the grandmother were in the bathtub, which was filled with water. All the bodies were unclothed.

The positions of the bodies led authorities to believe this is what happened.

The grandmother told the children they should be bathed and took the baby into the bathroom first, leaving the other child outside. She drowned the baby and placed the body on the table. Then she took the older child into the bathroom and drowned her. Finally she climbed into the tub and lowered her body until her head was under water.

Majority in Bar Favors Jury Trial

STEPHEN STONE

With few exceptions Allegheny County lawyers today expressed views supporting the jury system in comments on the recent State Supreme Court opinion deciding that a criminal trial without a jury is illegal in Pennsylvania. The decision was on an appeal in a test case in which the defendant voluntarily waived his constitutional right to be tried by a jury and moved that the court determine the issue. Former Judge Stephen Stone said: "As a general proposition it seems that there can be no improvement on the jury system. I learned from my experience on the bench that judges themselves are mighty glad to have juries. Jurors come from all walks of life and their verdict represents the crystallization of various points of view."

S. H. GARDNER

"There is no quibble with the State Supreme Court in its decision in the test case to determine whether or not it is legal to try a criminal offense without a jury. Trial by jury is a right guaranteed by the Constitution and it cannot be abrogated. To side-step jury trials possibly would speed up the work of the courts but in considering justice, we do not associate it with haste."

E. LOWRY HUMES

"While the Constitution is very clear on this matter and it is illegal for the defendant to waive his right for trial by jury in criminal offenses; it seems desirable that the Constitution should be amended in this respect and enable the prompt disposition of minor cases that now jam the courts. This feature of our criminal code can be taken up now when the question of writing a new Constitution is before us."

G. R. WALLACE

"Having little interest in Criminal Court procedure, I have given little thought to the question of changing the system of jury trials for minor criminal offenses. However, the proposal is in opposition to our Constitutional rights and to discuss any other method is mere indulgence in idle talk. This, I think, is the nation-wide viewpoint and jury trials will go on."

JOS. STADTFELD

"We have devised nothing better than the jury trial, but there is room for the improvement of the personnel of juries. It is unfortunate that those who are best fitted mentally for jury duty belong to the class that shirks this important duty imposed on our citizenship. Doubtless our jurisprudence will continue the jury system but it will improve juries."

RALPH H. SMITH

"The rights of the defendant must be safeguarded and the right of jury trial always is guaranteed, but it is desirable to clear up the calendars of the courts and that could be done by a codification of our laws which would make summary conviction cases which now are classed as misdemeanors. It seems useless to clog the courts with offenses which could be disposed of by magistrates."

UNIONTOWN POLICE MUST BE "BONE-DRY"

UNIONTOWN, Jan. 5.—All local police must be "bone-dry" and on the "up-and-up" every day in the year, Mayor Luther S. Crawford, who assumed office Monday, has decreed. He instructed them to immediately clean up speakeasies, gambling joints and disorderly houses, never to use their blackjacks except in felony cases and not to travel in pairs or crowds.

O'Leary's Cow Boosts Price Of Property

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—The property at No. 558 DeKoven street is for sale at $38,000. That is the price quoted to the city council for the property where Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lamp that set fire to Chicago in 1871.

CITY WINS IN BINDLEY DAMAGE LAWSUIT

A verdict for the City of Pittsburgh has been returned in the suit of the John C. Bindley estate for $10,000 damages to property at William Penn Way and Seventh avenue. The jury also set aside the $1,000 award of the board of viewers, from which the estate had appealed. Assistant City Solicitor H. M. Irons won his contention that the property had benefited by the improvements and not damaged.

SOCIETY WOMAN 'DOES' 100 MILES AN HOUR

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 5.—(AP.)—Miss Ruth Nichols, Rye (N. Y.) society girl who today held the honor of having made the first non-stop flight from New York to Miami, plans to go into the flying business.

She said this following a hundred-mile-an-hour trip which began on the waters off Rockaway Beach at 1:06 a. m. yesterday and ended at 8:06 p. m. here last night.

Accompanying Miss Nichols in the Fairchild pontoon monoplane were Harry Rogers, president of an air line here, an experienced pilot, and Maj. M. K. Lee, retired business man of Rye, Washington and Baltimore, an amateur pilot.

"They were making the trip and I wanted to come along," said Miss Nichols, modestly. She was at the controls for five hours, and for two other short intervals.

Miss Nichols is the only woman holder of an international seaplane pilot's license and has been flying for five years. This was her second trip by air from New York to Miami. She once flew here with an aunt as a passenger, but the jaunt was made in short hops. Flying, she said, "is the only real way to go any appreciable distance."

Leads Rebels

GEN. SANDINO

General Agustino Sandino, rebel leader in the Nicaraguan disturbance, has withdrawn his band into the thick forests of the mountainous regions where six United States marines have lost their lives in the last four days. Twenty-eight of the American "Devil Dogs" have been wounded in the four-days conflict with Sandino.

U. S. RUSHES MARINES -:- TO NICARAGUA -:- AS TROUBLE SPREADS

LIEUT. MOSES GOULD

Lieut. Moses Gould is now in charge of the marines moving against Sandino. He is operating from Qualili, just captured by his men, in a pitched battle.

ADOLPH THIELHART

Corporal Adolph Thielhart, of Middle Village, Long Island, N. Y., was one of the first marines to die in the fighting. He was killed at Qualili.

FAMILY HEARS OF DEATH

Theilhart's family heard the news with the stoical calm which the kin of service men acquire. His brother, Richard, at the right, and his stepfather, John Lehman, look on while his mother reads the last letter he wrote them before his death.

LIEUT. W. T. MINNICK

Lieut. W. T. Minnick, 32, of 963 Berkshire avenue, Brookline, was among the 28 wounded marines. His family was advised that his wound will not prove serious.

Marine Chief

BRIG. GEN. FELAND

Brigadier General Logan Feland has been ordered to Nicaragua with two full battalions of marines to reinforce the troops now there. Sandino's forces are reported to be fully equipped with anti-aircraft and other modern equipment.

LIEUT. GOULD

Another Gould, Lieut. Jack, too, was wounded in the occupation of Qualili.

"FIND PREACHER," SAYS RUTH

says she gave it to him because she didn't want to be bothered any more with gossip. He says she gave it to him as bail. Reichenbach says Sheriff Richard had no right to name or accept bail.

In Syracuse, N. Y., Miss Elder had a staunch defender today. He was George D. Haldeman, her co-pilot on their attempted Atlantic flight. He indignantly pronounced service of the warrant the work of busybodies.

Miss Elder said that four years ago, when she was 17, the Rev. Jenkins visited her husband, Claude Moody, Clayton, Ga., teacher. Her husband, she said, consented to her going on an automobile ride with the preacher. A resident saw them stop and look at the scenery, said Miss Elder, and a few days later the village began to gossip. In six weeks this whispering became so obnoxious that she and her husband moved to Athens, Ga. Their marriage was annulled a year later when her parents protested she was too young.

"The preacher and my husband were good friends," said Miss Elder.

"It was only a gesture of courtesy on his part to invite me on the drive, and a similar gesture on my part in accepting. I never knew there was a warrant. I am crestfallen at this situation. Somebody seems bent on ruining me. It is particularly unfortunate, for this sort of publicity will be displeasing to my husband, Lyle Womack, away down at the Canal Zone.

"I'd like to know where the evangelist is, if he is alive. If they find him, and he comes forward to tell the truth, the public quickly will know that it was merely an innocent ride such as is taken all the time by any number of people."

Miss Elder's trial is scheduled for February 27.

"DAMN LIE"—MR. RUTH

PANAMA, Jan. 5.—(INS.)—Lyle Womack, husband of Ruth Elder, rose furiously to the defense of his aviatrix wife today when informed of publication of the fact that Ruth had been arrested on an old charge of misconduct with the Rev. Shuford Jenkins at Clayton, Ga.

Womack's remarks were couched in no uncertain terms.

"It's a damn lie!" he cried. "It looks like blackmail born of jealousy of her courage and her present rewards.

"I'd like to have the low-minded individual who started the rumor in Panama. He would not remain standing very long.

"They'd better watch their step. I feel like taking the next boat to the United States.

"I do not know Jenkins or Moody, but I would stake my life that the charge is false."

Declaring that he expected his wife to join him here next June, Womack added:

"Ruth and I understand each other."

GEORGIANS SILENT

ATLANTA, Jan. 5.—With Ruth Elder, heroine of "The American Girl's" dive into the Atlantic ocean, under $500 bond to appear at Clayton, Ga., February 27, to answer an indictment charging misconduct, officials of Rabun county were pressing every resource today to find the Rev. Shuford Jenkins, Baptist evangelist named as her companion in an indiscreet episode in the fall of 1924.

Sheriff J. L. Richard, of Rabun county, who served a warrant on Miss Elder as she left a train in Atlanta in the early morning of December 20, asserted he did not care to talk about the case, but admitted he wanted to find Jenkins, and said the search was centering in Virginia.

Up in Rabun county, in the primitive fastnesses of the Blue Ridge foothills, it is difficult today to start a conversation about Ruth Elder, who lived there with her first husband, C. E. Moody, the school teacher, more than three years ago.

THE DIVORCE MILL

HIS SUPPORT LOST

Tired, she says, of supporting her husband, Ethel A. Weaver, 518 Taylor avenue, North Side, who applied for a divorce from John McCracken Weaver through her counsel, Charles G. Lane, has been granted a decree on grounds of desertion.

UNWASHED, SHE SAYS

To take a bath at least once a week was considered something out of the ordinary by her husband, so Ruth Elizabeth Sarver, of Ingomar, testified before Judge Josiah Cohen in her divorce action against Aloy Bryson Sarver. Her counsel, W. A. Barrickman, brought out that on one occasion Sarver knocked his wife out of an automobile and told her she could walk back home to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Schwartz, Ingomar, with whom they lived. Sarver, who lives in Pine Creek, is charged with cruel and barbarous treatment.

TWO ARMED MEN LOOT STORE

Two Negroes, both armed with revolvers, early today held up the confectionery store of Mrs. Marie Damus, at 1803 Cliff street. They escaped with $56 loot. Mrs. Damus told police that the two men drove away in an automobile in which a third man waited during the holdup.

REWARD Will Surely Come to Those Who Persistently Read and Use The Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads

CAN'T TAKE CAR BECAUSE RUM TAX IS UNPAID

Possession of whisky, with tax unpaid, in an automobile is not legal ground for forfeiture of the machine under the Internal Revenue law, if the owner of the automobile had no knowledge that the revenue tax had not been paid, it was decided yesterday by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, who dismissed a libel filed by Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington against an automobile owned by William B. Siciliano.

Siciliano was charged with attempting to defraud the government of revenue tax on four pint and two half-pint bottles of moonshine whisky found in a traveling bag in his car last September 5 by Policeman Campbell of Cheswick. The machine and liquor were turned over to the prohibition authorities. At the time, the automobile was not in motion, so unlawful transportation was not charged.

The opinion sets forth that Siciliano testified he had purchased the whisky as "good liquor;" never had it out of the wrappers, and had no knowledge of the manufacturer's failure to pay the tax. The court held that it could not reasonably infer that the automobile had been used to conceal the liquor with intent to defraud the government of taxes.

Details
of Interest
to all Motordom

THE new Hudson and Essex Super-Sixes come to the Automobile Show in completely new and arresting design, strikingly in advance, and at once brilliantly original and authoritative.

The full unity of their beauty is a swift impression, impossible to dissect; and yet a detailed study of the advancements is of interest not only to Hudson-Essex owners, but to all motordom.

Newness begins at the very front, in higher radiators on both Hudson and Essex—an effect that is further heightened by vertical radiator shutters. The motometer has been removed from the front to the dash, and is now replaced by handsome radiator ornaments.

Lamps are of Colonial design, and are of the parabeam type controlled from the wheel. Saddle lamps of the same type are mounted on the cowl by means of a crossing nickeled band. Fenders are of new design, full-crowned and beaded along the edge. This handsome design is carried back to the side-splash guards, which are deeper, and to the wider running boards which are provided with rubber mats and bound with aluminum strips.

The main body contour is improved by curving lines, low-hung, trim effect. The roof lines are flatter, and the rear and rear quarters are attractively curved.

All bodies are lacquered in duotones, and carry a moulding all the way around, and out the cowl and hood to the radiator.

The front pillars are trim and narrow. In standard models the visor is the military type, beaded around the edge both as a matter of better appearance and more rigid construction.

All Essex models are larger and roomier than ever before.

The total effect of many interior details is an air of richness and finish. For instance, the panel between the windshield and the dash is finished in a rich burl walnut design, while, just beneath, the instrument board itself is finished in a polished ebony. Set into this background is the grouping of instruments, including the ammeter, oil and gasoline gauges, speedometer, and motometer, all indirectly lighted.

The handsome new steering wheel has a steel core surrounded by ebony-black hard rubber and carries light control, hand throttle and horn button.

Hudson custom-built bodies are the Victoria, the Landau Sedan and the 7-passenger Sedan. In all of them, the front body pillars are notably slender. The windshield frames are nickeled, so that the fronts of all three cars are quite distinctive and striking.

Body construction is of aluminum panels over a frame of selected hardwood. Lines are original and striking. Mouldings and color panels are employed to bring about distinctive effects. The rear quarters are finished in long grain landau leather, colored to match the upper body.

Four wheel brakes are, of course, standard in both Hudson and Essex.

The VICTORY SIX

BY DODGE BROTHERS

Simple fairness to this remarkable new product calls for words that would seem extravagant were they not so obviously and accurately truthful.

From an engineering standpoint The Victory is radically new, radically different and thoroughly original—is literally years ahead of its time in many vital features.

Subjected to long and peculiarly gruelling tests over every kind of primitive road, it has emerged completely the victor—fit and ready to serve the advanced and exacting needs of today and tomorrow.

In a very real sense, too, it compares with no other car or class, because NO car, either here or abroad, provides features that are comparable.

To enjoy these advantages you must buy THIS car, for elsewhere they simply do not exist.

Revolutionary New Principles of Design

Two revolutionary new principles differentiate The Victory from all other motor cars:

1. For the first time since the invention of the automobile, the chassis and body of The Victory are a single integral unit—the wide, deep Victory chassis frame, flush with the lines of the body, replaces the customary body sills. (Heretofore, the body was mounted on a sill and both in turn mounted on the chassis.)

2. For the first time in history, battleship construction (i.e., double steel walls) is applied to the motor car.

The results of these, and other basic innovations are astonishing in their effect on every phase of motor car value: beauty, comfort, safety, strength and most impressive and important of all—performance itself.

Spectacular Performance

With chassis and body a single unit, there are 330 fewer parts—175 pounds less weight—and an extremely low center of gravity.

The results are greater motor efficiency—increased power in relation to load—quicker pick-up—greater stability and flexibility—an easier car to handle—a faster car to drive!

21 miles to the gallon at 25 miles per hour is precisely what you can expect—with sustained high speed all day long at instant call.

Drive over cobbles and await the usual discomfort—it will never occur! The Victory is the smoothest riding car, for its type, ever built.

Safe, Strong and Stable

Because the chassis frame conforms precisely with the body lines — with no body overhang—and because of the car's low center of gravity (weight close to the ground) The Victory is remarkably stable—tipping, skidding and swaying are reduced to a point positively negligible!

Turn a sharp corner and you will understand!

And the double steel walls mean double protection in case of accident —double the safety of any type yet known. A staunch body, with doors that close with a substantial and non-metallic snap.

Internal-expanding Lockheed-Hydraulic brakes, a rigid, 8-inch chassis frame, wide windows, full-vision windshield and thin steel corner posts are further vital factors of greater safety.

Quiet and Comfortable

The aim of all engineering is simplicity, for simplicity means economy —strength—SILENCE.

There are only 8 major parts in The Victory body—and they are welded into a single unit. Not a joint to squeak or rattle. Body and chassis act together, mutually flexing, mutually supporting, without stress or strain. A SILENT body.

And Dodge Brothers powerful new six-cylinder motor — specially engineered for The Victory — preserves this luxurious quietness at all speeds.

A Car of Striking Beauty

Body and chassis built as a single unit—without the customary body sill—permits lower over-all height with liberal head-room and road-clearance.

Splash shields, a constant source of noise and annoyance are replaced by the wide, deep Victory chassis frame; wide heavy-gauge one-piece fenders and drum-type head-lamps are provided. Upholstery, hardware, instruments, color combinations and other appointments satisfy the most exacting demands of style and good taste.

Indeed, you have a distinct and thrilling impression that the car in which you are riding is long, low, swift and safe — a car of surpassing originality and smartness down to the smallest detail.

And you are equally conscious that in the production of this car, Dodge Brothers have adhered strictly to the standards of dependability and long life which have distinguished their product for more than thirteen years.

Proceeding on this solid foundation, they have achieved a result as original and striking by comparison as was the first Dodge Brothers motor car displayed to the public on January 1st, 1915.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Hal Munnis, Who Hails From Tech, Tells About Edd:e Foy, Aged 71, A Comedian Who Would Be Hamlet

By GEORGE SEIBEL

PITTSBURGHERS have a double interest in the vaudeville program at the Davis this week, for two old Pittsburgh favorites are appearing in the little sketch, "The Fallen Star," Eddie Foy is known to everybody, and the young man appearing with him is Hal Munnis, who got his start as an actor out at Tech. Hal Munnis is well remembered for having played one of the Twins in Shaw's "You Never Can Tell"—Betty Brown being the other. Both of them graduated into the professional ranks soon afterward.

GEORGE SEIBEL

Mr. Munnis, whose parents live in Edgewood, spent six or seven years of hard work in stock companies and vaudeville; then he got good parts in a number of productions by the Shuberts, Harris and Woods, but never got to his home town. He played the lead in "East Is West;" the comedy role in "Love and Money;" the comedy role in "Ladies Night in a Turkish Bath;" the lead in "The Blonde Sinner;" the comedy heavy in Rachel Crothers' "Charm;" and most recently the comedy lead in the Dillingham production of "Lucky." His home is on Long Island, where his next-door neighbor is Edward Locke, the Pittsburgh playwright, who wrote "The Climax" and "The Case of Becky."

Mr. Munnis is enjoying his tour with Eddie Foy, whom he considers one of the finest gentlemen he ever met, aside from his rare gifts as a comedian. Foy, who is 71, has the heart of a child. He is known everywhere by all the stage-hands and every one is his friend. He was walking down the old Bowery with Mr. Munnis a few weeks ago when they passed a dingy building boarded up. "Why," said Foy, "there's the Old London Music Hall. I played there forty years ago." A bill-poster who was slathering paste over the boardings turned around as he heard them talking and took a squint at Foy. "Yep," he cried, "so you did, Eddie, and I saw you there. Them was the good old times!"

Just before Christmas the six Junior Foys were playing their vaudeville turn in Cincinnati, when a man stood up in the front row and pushed a large drawing across the footlights. It was a sketch of Eddie Foy which the man had made over twenty years ago, showing the comedian as "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway." The junior Foys took the sketch with them to New York and presented it to their father at Christmas.

"He could have played Hamlet in earnest," declares Hal Munnis. "Nobody knows Shakespeare better than Eddie Foy."

BLINN COMING; PROGRAMS

The Pitt offers for its next week's attraction Holbrook Blinn and his entire New York company and production in "The Play's the Thing," from Henry Miller's Theater, New York, where it ran last season. In the company are Martha Lorber, Hubert Druct, Gavin Muir, Harry Mestayer, Claud Allister and Ralph Nairn. The sale of seats begins today. The usual Thursday and Saturday matinees will be played.

The satirical comedy, "Chicago," wherein "a lady gets away with murder" will come to the Alvin January 9, for a week. Francine Larrimore is starred. The play, which is a comedy satire, is by Maurine Watkins, former newspaper reporter in Chicago. Seats are on sale today.

George Siegmann, who played the lieutenant-governor of South Carolina in "The Birth of a Nation," has the role of Barabbas in "The King of Kings," in the Nixon. De Mille's New Testament picture is to remain another week, seats for which go on sale today.

Jane and Katherine Lee, headliners in the bill of Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis next week, began in the Hollywood studios. They are showing their versatility in a singing and dancing skit.

Polly Moran, of "The Callahans and the Murphys" fame, plays a comedy woman detective in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vehicle starring Lon Chaney, "London After Midnight," which comes to the Penn screen Monday. It is a mystery story.

The Six Jolly Jesters, who will hold the stage in the Grand next week, are a saxophone sextet. The screen offering will be "Wild Geese," in which Belle Bennett, Eve Southern and Anita Stewart are featured.

Rod La Rocque will be seen in his latest De Mille picture, "The Fighting Eagle," in Loew's Aldine next week. It is a romantic story of the days of Napoleon. Phyllis Haver is leading woman.

Jack Reid and his "Record Breakers" will be the burlesque next week in the Academy. Reid is supported by Syd Burke, singing and dancing comedienne; Jaunita Burt, Sid Rodgers and Jimmy Bova, comedian.

The Vitaphone will present "The Night Court," in the Olympic next week. It is a combination dramatic sketch and musical act. On the screen will be Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall in "Man Crazy."

The Harris vaudville next week will feature a group of Atlantic City beauty contestants in "Varieties and Fashions." On the screen will be an aviation picture, "Aflame in the Sky."

In the Sheridan Square the first half of next week a mystery playlet, "666 Sycamore," will be a vaudeville feature. Marie Prevost will be seen on the screen in "The Girl in the Pullman."

Cause For Reflection

MOLLY O'DAY receives a letter and we'll bet its from Beatrice Fairfax herself. It is a bit from "The Lovelorn," film version of Miss Fairfax's novel of the same title.

Lew Cody Is Visitor At San Quentin Prison

SAN QUENTIN, CAL., Jan. 4.—Prison rules were broken the other day for Lew Cody, a friend of friendless men, who came to San Quentin with a group of other stars of stage and screen to give the fourteenth annual New Year's day show for the prisoners It was Cody's first visit to the penitentiary, but he knows many of the imprisoned here. Some he has helped with jobs and money. Others—only a few of these—he knows as personal friends.

Cody had barely passed inside the gate when the actor caught sight of one old friend in the person of Kid McCoy. The Kid, not so young in years now, and shambling a little in his walk, was on the wrong side of the invisible boundary line which is supposed to separate visitors from inmates. McCoy knew the line was there, but Cody didn't.

"Hello, Lew," said McCoy, and started to extend his hand. Then he remembered the rules.

Cody jumped to the pugilist's side and shook his hand, while a group of guards came running toward the pair with weapons levelled but nothing happened. The guards recognized Cody and let the pair chat for a minute before interrupting.

Paul Kelly, young motion picture actor sentenced for killing Ray Raymond, husband of Dorothy McKaye, was in the big mess hall with 300 other convicts when Cody entered. Kelly was sitting on the aisle, and greeted Cody with a "Happy New Year!" which he tried to make cheerful—but couldn't. Guards were all about, and there was no handshake, but later Warden B. Holohan shifted the rules again, and let the two have a 10-minute chat in a private room.

To Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to make. Saves about $2

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is, pine has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, and tastes good.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and hoarseness.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"How could I talk —with that throat?"

With throat raw and painful this is not an alibi. The wife answers sensibly: "See the doctor tomorrow." And she often adds: "Get a bottle of Formamint at the corner drug store now."

For physicians approve of Formamint. Unlike other remedies, it can be taken all day long—wherever you go.

Carry a bottle of pleasant Formamint tablets with you To treat sore throat, one every hour; as a preventive, one every two hours. All druggists.

2 POLICE HURT AS PATROL AND TRUCK CRASH

Two police officers were painfully injured in a collision early this morning at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street between a police emergency car and a heavy truck. The victims are Patrolman John Cahill and Sergt. Joseph Kohnke, both of the Center Avenue Police Station.

They were taken to the Mercy Hospital, where it was stated X-ray examinations would be made to determine if the officers sustain broken bones.

Harry Carlisle, driver of the truck, owned by Armour & Co., with which the police car collided, was arrested charged with reckless driving. According to police, Carlisle was driving north in Smithfield street, and the police car, which was answering an emergency call, was westbound in Fifth avenue, when the crash occurred. Carlisle said he did not hear the siren of the police car.

CLUB POLICEMAN BEATEN IN BATTLE WITH ROBBER

Fighting with an armed holdup man in Water street, near Liberty avenue, early this morning, Donald Anthony Salvo, 24, of 312 Shetland avenue, was beaten on the face and head and bitten on the left hand. The robber escaped. Salvo, a special policeman at the Flotilla Club, was en route home from work at the time. He was treated at the Presbyterian Hospital and then sent home.

CROWDS MEETING TEN HERBS MAN

Unusual Interest Shown in Novel Demonstration at May Drug Store.

Headquarters have now been established by the Ten Herbs Man at the May Drug Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily conducting a novel demonstration of the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs, to crowds of men and women who call there to hear the Ten Herbs Man personally explain this new preparation, to purchase it, or to ask for free sample, or literature.

MRS. BEATRICE BAMFORD

"Ten Herbs is just what the name implies," is the invariable statement of the Ten Herbs Man to the crowds that gather in front of him at the May Drug Store. "It is a mixture of the medicinal extracts from ten herbs, each of which is known for its beneficial action on the stomach, liver, kidneys, or bowels, and which will give your entire system the thorough cleansing it may have been needing for a long time. In many instances, Ten Herbs has given relief from suffering that is little short of amazing."

A remarkable statement telling how Ten Herbs relieved long suffering was made recently by Mrs. Beatrice Bamford, Adjutant of the Salvation Army, living at 17 North Street, Williamsport, Pa. "My stomach was the cause of great suffering the past ten years," said Mrs. Bamford. "My throat was raw, from the acid condition of my stomach—at times I lost my speech. I would vomit hot water and sour food. My kidneys bothered me, and I had to arise several times at night. I had severe headaches and a constant dull pain across my back. My liver was not working properly. Ten Herbs gave me splendid results. My appetite is good now. I can retain my food, and all pains and misery in my stomach have disappeared. I feel better in every respect. I am pleased to recommend Ten Herbs.

The Ten Herbs Man is at the May Drug Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, answering questions, giving out free samples of Ten Herbs, passing out literature, and fully explaining and demonstrating this wonderful medicine. He will be at the store every day from 9 a. m. on through the day.

CHILDREN and Calcium

Have you any dietary problems with your children? Perhaps calcium's corrective properties would speedily put their systems in shape to eat anything they want. And calcium wafers will certainly keep their bowels poison-free, normally active and clean!

Don't give growing boys and girls harsh cathartics; you will give them the cathartic habit, if you do. A calcium wafer or two will just as effectively overcome the sluggish condition and tend to prevent its return. Let a doctor explain why.

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium, and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them—the test size for pocket is 10c. Or the family size 60c.

DODGE

says E. G. Wilmer, president of Dodge Brothers. "I refer chiefly to the unification of body and chassis, with all the resultant elimination of body sills and overhang of the body over the chassis. In this instance, the body is mounted directly on the chassis and in fact becomes a part thereof so that sideway and danger of tipping is greatly minimized.

"This new principle," continued Mr. Wilmer, "also gives us an exceptionally low car, without sacrifice of headroom and road clearance. The double steel body wall, patterned after the construction of battle ships, also is radically new and a factor of vital importance in safety. These and other features, plus the extraordinary performance ability of the new Victory, give us reason to believe that it will be tremendously popular from the outset, and we are making production plans accordingly. We look forward to one of the most active and prosperous years in Dodge Brothers' history."

PONTIAC

vious offerings of the Oakalnd Motor Car Company, of which Pontiac is a unit, in the low priced six-cylinder field.

The new car, with four-wheel brakes, gasoline pump, an entirely new type of radiator, which prevents evaporation, semi-coincidental lock, improved carburetion, crankcase ventilation, new cylinder head, higher compression, new clutch and steering gear, heavier frame, and other mechanical advances, appears to justify the statement of the manufacturer that it is "new from radiator to tail light."

Although the new series has the same number of cars that comprised the 1927 line, two of the new models carry new type of bodies, representing the latest advances in Fisher design. The new type are the sport landau sedan and four-door sedan. Other bodies are: two-door sedan, coupe, sport cabriolet and sport roadster, all of which have been completely redesigned.

ESSEX

duction of $10 on the Essex four-door sedan.

The new line offers the four-door sedan, coach and coupe, all low hung, modern in style, and designed with a unity of line to assure them a distinctive character of their own.

The new bodies are described as roomier than previous models, having been designed to provide two inches additional shoulder room for the rear seat passengers. Seats are spaced to give ample room in both the front and the rear compartments.

Around the walls and roof the upholstery is fitted as neatly as in custom cars, yet sections of the upholstery are removable in case of accident. On the radiator is a new sculptored ornament of classic design, replacing the motometer which has been removed to the dash.

A new Hudson car is being shown with the latest Essex creations. Seven models comprise the Hudson line, and these cars also embody all the latest refinements and discoveries of automotive engineers and designers.

GENERAL MOTORS

CONSTANT PROGRESS · BETTER MOTOR CARS

By following a policy of progress in the development of low-priced transportation, General Motors has given the public an ever-increasing measure of—

Modern features—

General Motors, through its Chevrolet division, was a pioneer in giving the public those modern features of design which today are the basis of luxurious low-priced transportation. Prominent among these are: Selective 3-speed transmission; semi-elliptic springs parallel to the frame; electric starting, lighting and ignition; Duco finishes in color; water pump cooling system, pressure pump lubrication, and the vacuum fuel system.

Modern performance—

General Motors has always believed that the public is entitled to the advantages inherent in advanced engineering practice. This policy, carried out by the Chevrolet division, has enabled owners of even low-priced cars to enjoy, year after year, the latest developments affecting power, acceleration, smoothness, handling ease, stamina and economy.

Riding comfort—

Realizing that the public's enjoyment of individual transportation is largely dependent on comfort, General Motors has devoted years of research to the basic comfort factors. Numerous discoveries have been made in chassis springs, spring suspensions, spring steels, seat cushioning, weight distribution, and body balance. And through Chevrolet these have been given without delay to the purchasers of low-priced automobiles.

Distinctive style—

Early in the development of motor cars, appearance and the pride of possession became important factors in owner satisfaction. Through its long connection with the Fisher Body Corporation, General Motors has consistently introduced finer and more beautiful automobiles. And all the basic advancements in styling have been available to Chevrolet as rapidly as they were created.

As a result of its policy of progress, General Motors through its automobile divisions, has always given the public without delay the benefits of advanced engineering development.

In the short time that has passed since its presentation, the new Chevrolet has become a subject of comment and discussion in homes all over the land.

One of the expressions most frequently heard is: "How can Chevrolet build so fine an automobile and sell it at such low prices?"

To this perfectly natural question there is a perfectly simple answer. The new Chevrolet was produced to sell at its present prices only because the Chevrolet Motor Company used with telling effect the many distinct advantages it enjoys as a division of General Motors.

The style, comfort, performance and quality of the new Chevrolet represent more than the efforts of a single organization engaged in building a single type of car. It embodies in full measure the experience gained by all General Motors divisions in the development of all General Motors cars.

Its prices are based on the many economies of General Motors' tremendous purchasing power and diversified automotive manufacture.

And its modern design reflects the General Motors policy of constant progress—by which the benefits of engineering advancement are given to the public at the earliest possible opportunity.

General Motors acquires its basic materials in tremendous volume—steel by the hundreds of thousands of tons—wire by the tens of thousands of miles—upholsteries by the acre—nuts, bolts and washers by the millions. This makes it possible to command the most favorable prices from sources of supply whose specialized experience enables them to produce the finest materials for a given purpose. Millions of dollars are saved each year; and millions are passed on to the public in the form of finer, more modern, more desirable automobiles at lower prices.

Through its Fisher Body division, General Motors is the world's largest builder of automobile bodies, with 44 body plants in various parts of the country. It operates its own lumber mills and owns thousands of acres of hardwood forests. It makes its own glass in the world's largest plate glass factory. It manufactures all of its own body hardware. Its craftsmanship is internationally renowned, and its style influence is felt throughout the industry.

As a result, General Motors cars in every price class have Fisher bodies of acknowledged distinction and sound construction. And nowhere is this more vividly revealed than in the new Chevrolet.

General Motors manufactures, both for itself and the industry at large, an almost limitless number of specialized automotive products. Starting, lighting and ignition equipment—ball bearings—steering wheels—roller bearings—warning horns—wheels—rims—spark plugs—air cleaners—oil filters—radiators—all call for specialized engineering and production skill.

General Motors makes them all—and purchasers of motor cars the world over benefit accordingly.

The engineering staffs responsible for all General Motors cars are continually striving for the new and better thing. At their disposal are the General Motors Research Laboratories and the General Motors Proving Ground. Every engineering advancement and scientific discovery resulting from this combined effort is immediately available for use on all General Motors automobiles from Cadillac to Chevrolet.

This is an advantage of untold value. Years ago it enabled Chevrolet to pioneer into the low-priced field those quality features on which the present conception of a low-priced quality car is based. Today, it makes possible numerous new improvements in the Bigger and Better Chevrolet.

In developing the Chevrolet cars of the past, General Motors has made a vital contribution to the happiness and welfare of the nation.

It created an entirely new idea of what the buyer of a low-priced automobile could expect. It made luxurious transportation the pleasure of the many, rather than the privilege of the few. It has made progress an automotive watchword.

Now, in the new Chevrolet, that policy of progress finds still further expression. More modern features have been provided. More distinguished style has been created. Finer performance has been attained. Greater comfort has been provided. And wider public service has been rendered.

"Sop up your tears and give voice to great joy...for your troubles with GROWING HAIR are about to be ended. I just made a visit to the Adoria Beauty Salon and that little hairdresser I always go to, showed me a trick transformation.

It hides all the ragged ends like magic . . . fastens on with little springs and won't come off! Get one, my dear. Just ask for L'Adoria. You will be sure to be pleased with it." "And Oh, Bess!" I added, "I almost forgot to tell the interesting part about L'Adoria — it is only $5.

GIRL'S SCREAMS FOIL SLUGGER'S ATTACK

Miss Betty Lierman, 20, employed as a domestic in a residence in Morrowfield avenue, Squirrel Hill, was saved from attack early today when arrival of pedestrians frightened away a man who had knocked her to the ground and was attempting to drag her onto a dark terrace.

The girl was seized, near where she is employed, a short time after she had left a street car in Murray avenue. She told police she believed the man had followed her from the street car stop and had waited his chance to grab her at a dark spot along the way home. The girl suffered a bruised lip when she was struck by the thug.

Miss Lierman said the man had walked past her, grasping her arm as he did so, and had attempted to make her come with him. She fought with him, and was struck in the face and knocked to the pavement. The thug then tried to drag her onto the terrace, but was routed by the arrival of two men who heard the girl's screams.

ANOTHER FOILED

A milk bottle wielded by a pedestrian felled the alleged assailant of Theresa DiSalvio, 13, of 114 Anderson street, as she was being dragged into a Madison avenue hallway late yesterday. Charles Schmidt, 26, of 239 Hemlock street, who heard her screams as she was being shoved into the hallway, picked up the bottle and used it to fell Martin Harvey, 25, of 914 Sawmill way, Miss DiSalvio's alleged assailant. He was lodged in the North Side Police Station after being revived. The girl was not injured.

Harvey was sent to the insane ward at Mayview today by Magistrate E. M. Rough, Morals Court.

Lily Shocks Her Mother; She Is Leaving With Pat, the Chauffeur

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Lily Lexington is the spoiled and only daughter of the Cyrus Lexingtons, who have always lived far beyond their means. She realizes her highest ambition when she becomes engaged to Staley Drummond, a rich bachelor older than herself. Downtown to meet her chum, Sue Cain, she is attracted by Pat France, a taxi driver. She asks him to drive her home. On the way she learns that he is cab-driving to raise money to finance a new kind of piston ring he has invented. Pat tells her that he is selling the cab to raise money for the piston ring, and she miserably wonders how she'll see him after that. Staley tells her the age-difference between them doesn't matter and tenderly kisses her. Lily realizes that she hates his love-making. Mrs. Lexington announces the engagement just as Lily's made up her mind to tell Staley that she doesn't want to marry him, and she feels like a mouse in a trap—helpless. The Lexingtons decide to get a chauffeur, who turns out to be Pat. Lily confesses to him she loves him. Lily suggests to Staley that they break their engagement, but he refuses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"PAT, you're not going!" she whispered so that Agnes, who was hanging up dish towels in the yard outside, would not hear her. "You're not going without me, Pat! I won't let you!—I can't."

She came close to him and put her arms around his neck. She gave him a kiss that was all warmth [illegible] fume and soft silken lure. "If you don't take [illegible] Pat, I'll never have the courage to leave after you [illegible] I'll think you don't want me. Truly, I will."

Pat held her away from him, his hard, brow[illegible] closed on her wrists, his eyes on hers. "You kn[illegible] it means if you go with me?" he asked. "It me[illegible] work and cheap dresses and a tiny place to live [illegible] all your own work. Washing and ironing and s[illegible] and cooking."

For a second Lily hesitated . . . Not because she wasn't sure that she loved him. She knew she loved him. But she was thinking of old Annie Herbeneck, the laundress, who did the Lexington's washing every week. She thought of her hands, wrinkled from water and soap suds, and her sopping calico apron, with the pockets full of clothes pins. She shuddered and looked at her smooth pink-tipped fingers. Could they become shriveled and wrinkled like old Annie's?

"Well, I reckon I could do even my own washing, Pat," she whispered, as she smiled up at him. "I wouldn't mind washing your shirts, would I?" She laid her head against the snowy pocket of the one he had on. She could feel his heart beating under it, and she held him closer to her. He seemed the most precious and wonderful person in the whole world.

"Pat, I can't live if you don't take me," she said solemnly, and meant it as she never had meant anything before. "If you don't take me with you."

Compared with the way she wanted him, she never really had wanted anything before. All the things she had had seemed less than nothing to her in that moment when she was begging Pat France to marry her. She barely thought of them, and she barely thought of Staley Drummond and the suite he had engaged on a French liner for June [illegible] . . . Nothing was [illegible] but Pat, his hands red [illegible] sunburn, holding her [illegible] his heart beating st[illegible] the pocket of his shi[illegible]

"I feel like a thief," [illegible] in her ear, "taking yo[illegible] all this and giving [illegible] but a lot of hard wor[illegible] at all . . . We won[illegible] an automobile unless [illegible] row one from Roy ev[illegible] then."

Lily crinkled her nose up at him and laughed. Her eyes were starry with happiness. "Oh, you foolish kid!" she said to him. "Don't you know that your piston ring is going to make us rich? I'll have everything that Staley Drummond's wife could have in a few years, and I'll have my own boy besides." She kissed her own boy on the tip of his cleft chin, and was smothered in his arms instantly, and swept from her feet in a wild embrace that left them both shaken and breathless.

"I'll go and pack up a few things, too!" she told him after a minute or two. "And we'll go right away, won't we?"

Still quivering and tingling with excitement, she ran into the house and up the back stairs to her own room.

Her mother was waiting for her. She was sitting in the window seat and in her hands she [illegible] the padded hanger that had held Lily's orchid-and-pink dress a few minutes before. Her eyes were narrowed until they were gleaming slits in her face, and one foot tapped the floor in nervous anger.

"I didn't come in here to spy on you, Lily," she said. "But Sarah MacCabe finished your wedding dress this morning, to the very last inch of pearl embroidery, and I brought it in here to hang it up . . . Then I found this"—she waved the hanger like a flag—"lying on the closet floor. And here you are in one of your trousseau dresses! Now, what did you put it on for? Just to go to say good-bye to that chauffeur out in the garage!"

"I didn't say good-bye to him," answered Lily, wide-eyed as an innocent child. "I'm not going to say good-bye to him . . . I'm going to say good-bye to you, Mother, and to this house. I'm leaving with Pat."

If she had struck her mother a hard blow between the eyes she could not have amazed or hurt her more. Mrs. Lexington's proud, cold face lost its look of pride and coldness in an instant. It seemed to crumple up like a withered flower, and her chin shook like a child's chin when it whimpers. The change was so swift that it was like magic.

Her hands flew to her face, pressing it hard as if she were trying to hold it in shape—to keep from breaking down and sobbing. Tears of shock sprang to her eyes.

"Lily! You don't mean it! Tell me you don't mean this!" she begged. "You mean you want to marry that—that chauffeur?"

Lily nodded, and dragged her pale-gray bags from the closet. As she bent down to do it, the looped-up court-train of her wedding dress brushed her face.

She took it from its hanger and looked at it—not as if it belonged to her, but as if it were some other girl's bridal gown of white satin and soft lace and seed-pearl embroideries.

"Nice, isn't it?" she said to her mother, as if she were speaking to a casual acquaintance.

A half hour before, when she had stood in the little writing room downstairs and begged her mother to tell her what to do about Pat France, she would have been willing to take advice and orders . . . She had felt young and helpless and in need of her mother then.

But now she had made her own decision—her decision to leave the house and marry Pat France. Her decision to set a whole town talking by jilting one of its wealthiest bachelors almost at the altar, and running away with a penniless chauffeur.

She began to put her tortoise-shell-and-gold toilet articles into the smaller bag. As she did it, she heard the crisp rustle of her mother's skirts as she left the room. She sat back on her heels and watched her go in amazement.

"Well, I certainly didn't expect her to take the news so calmly," she said to herself. "I expected her to kick up an awful rumpus."

But Mrs. Lexington was far from calm, and very, very far from taking the news calmly, as Lily might have known if she had stopped to think. But she was far too happy to do any straight-line thinking herself. She was caught up into a cloud of sunshiny happiness, from which she saw such details as satin wedding gowns and jilted lovers as through a golden mist. Even her mother's misery did not mean very much to her just then. "Besides," she thought dimly, "she wouldn't be happy if I married Staley and I was wretched forever after."

No, it was better for her mother to rant and cry and threaten a lit-

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by Havey J. Boyle

WHILE it is slightly disconcerting to know that no less than five policemen are lying in wait for the conductor of this column, it is, on the other hand, flattering to know that something written here the other day was noticed. This column said that five or six policemen in our neighborhood collected around $5,000 as Christmas presents from motorists. That, the policemen say, was exaggerated. Well, maybe it was, but Jimmy in the barber shop close by was assigned to this case, and he made what he thought was an honest report.

The policemen, it is probable, think that if the belief becomes general they do so handsomely at Christmas there might be a lull in trade next year. Let them cease worrying on this score. Motorists who are thoughtful in giving them presents do not care how much they receive—in fact, if this department knows anything about motorists, the more the policemen receive the happier will be the motorists. And, anyway, the general memory for such things is so bad that after 11 months have rolled away motorists will be having great arguments whether it was said here the policemen got $5,000 or $1,000 or nothing at all, or that the policemen gave the motorists presents.

THIS department, anyway, would be the last to hurt the case of one of the policemen mentioned, Red Thompson. It was Red who arrested us one morning about two or three years ago and he did it in such gentlemanly fashion that we never realized until then what a pleasure it is to be arrested in the proper way.

ON OUR way to work one morning we either forgot to turn the steering wheel at the proper time or what is known as the steering knuckle failed us—anyway, we just scored a pretty spare. Out of the 10 machines lined up we bowled over seven. There issued simultaneously from the seven machines gesticulating fists and articulating tongues. There were such cries as "Lynch him." Fortunately, most of the boys were on their way to work—it was 9 o'clock in the morning—so they decided to let the law take its course.

Red Thompson was the arresting officer and if anyone upon being arrested insists on a good recommendation we are always ready to write a letter for Red Thompson.

PERHAPS some of the clerks in the local banks, who handle so many different kinds of currency, will be able to straighten out a puzzle. The one-dollar bill has a good likeness of Washington on it and under the likeness is the name Washington. A five-dollar bill has the likeness of Lincoln, under which is the name Lincoln. But on another five-dollar bill is the picture of a former President with no name under it. Now the problem is why does the government identify such well-known faces as Washington and Lincoln and leave unidentified a picture that few of us know? It is our guess that the picture in question is that of Andrew Jackson, but how many persons would recognize a picture of Jackson, and assuming the answer to that is "very few," then why isn't the picture identified? Write the contest editor.

NOW that the celebrating of New Year's is over a young gentleman in Mt. Oliver would like to know how he can return a "No Parking" sign which he took home with him at what might be called the height of festivities. The young man wants to turn straight but faces a curious dilemma: Keeping the stolen property he is practically safe from detection—returning it he is almost certain to be arrested.

NO PARKING
Z-Z-Z-Z-Z-Z

He doesn't remember how the sign got into his room, but he assumes that since it could not walk, he must have carried it there.

At that, the sign has its uses. The father of the house, upon noting that Rollo, who "calls on" one of the girls, was over-staying, instead of calling downstairs in harsh tones: "Sophey, do you know what time it is?" just wheeled the "No Parking" sign into the living room and the young Lothario left at once.

A WALK through the downtown streets at noon, during which are noticed young things holding tightly to stronger arms, prompts this sociological observation: The last stage in any courtship is reached when Miss A meets Mr. B for a short walk during the lunch hour.

Condemned by City, Apartment House "Ambles On" to New Site

The title of this scenario might be "The House that Walked Away."

Episode One—J. M. Young owned a three-story brick apartment in Brighton road, near the Irwin avenue extension.

Episode Two—The property was acquired by the city through condemnation proceedings to permit the extension and widening of Irwin avenue.

Episode Three—The owner, claiming total loss, appeared before the board of viewers and was awarded $27,500 property damages.

Episode Four—City contractors go to the scene to remove the building.

Episode Five—They report that the building is missing.

Episode Six—Investigators discover the apartment building resting comfortably on a lot 40 feet away from the original site.

Episode Seven—The new site is the property of Harry Young, brother of J. M. Young, the original owner.

Episode Eight—J. M. Young, still after the award granted by the board of viewers on the ground that his property was destroyed, informed Council that he had no knowledge or connection directly or indirectly with the moving of the building to his brother's lot.

Episode Nine—Councilman John S. Herron declared that "the house was stolen," supported by City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, who asserted that evidence gathered by his department indicated that the house was "taken" from the city without the city's consent.

Episode Nine—Council, continuing the case until next Wednesday, demanded complete information of all phases of the case, including a report showing whether the Bureau of Building Inspection had issued a permit for the removal of the structure.

Lily Shocks Her Mother; She Is Leaving With Pat, the Chauffeur

tle bit now than it was for her to be sorry later that she had stopped her from marrying the man of her choice, even if he was a poor man . . . Much better.

"And money can't mean so much to me after all," Lily went on thinking, as she packed three tube-like dresses and three sets of silken underthings into the big pale-gray suitcase. "For I don't feel very blue about leaving everything behind and going to live on bread and cheese and kisses."

But she never had tried bread and cheese and kisses. She knew nothing about poverty, never having tasted that, either.

And she certainly did not know herself! Most people don't until they're down on their luck. She never had been.

Lugging the two bags, she went down the back stairs into the yard. As she reached the back porch the sound of angry voices came to her—her mother's and Pat's. They were having a heated argument, standing in the driveway under the glare of the sun. A few feet away from them Agnes was watching them and listening to them, eyes, ears and mouth open.

"—It's the only fair thing to do!" Lily caught the tail end of something her mother was saying. "And I insist that you do it. She doesn't know her own mind. You're simply sweeping her off her feet, and you know it!" She brought her palms together smartly.

Pat's lips tightened. "All right, have it your own way, Mrs. Lexington," he said, with a politeness that did not hide his anger. "But if I'd wanted to sweep her from her feet, I could have done it eight weeks ago. And I didn't. There were times when I wouldn't let her get into my cab. When I lied to her—told her I was busy and drove away. But I'll do what you ask me to, although I think it's a silly thing to ask."

Lily came up to him. He had taken off his working clothes and looked very handsome in a dark blue suit and a grey felt hat. He put his arm around her.

"Your mother doesn't want us to get married for 24 hours," he said, looking down at her lovely flushed face pillowed on his shoulder. Quite shamelessly she raised it to him for a kiss before she spoke.

"Why not?" she asked.

CHAPTER XXI.

MRS. LEXINGTON was one of those India rubber people who can bounce back instantly from any shock, disappointment or failure.

And now she had a plan all ready for Lily and Pat.

"I want you to wait for 24 hours before you even ask for a marriage license," she said. "I want you to take plenty of time to think over what you're doing. Then maybe you won't do it."

Lily laughed. "Oh, won't I?" she was beginning scornfully, when Pat stopped her.

"It's a pretty good idea of your mother's, Lily. Twenty-four hours will give you a chance for some sober thought, after all."

So finally Lily promised to wait for another day before she made up her mind to become Mrs. Patrick France.

"But I'll not stay here," she said firmly. "I'll do my waiting at your house, Pat. Because I'm not going to change my mind, you know!"

Helping him with his suitcases, she went down the driveway, leaving behind her all the comforts and luxuries of the house that no longer seemed like home to her.

She left them, and felt no pang of regret.

Under the noon-tide sun the brown-shuttered house seemed to be taking a nap. Its shades were half-drawn, its front door was closed, and it squeaked drowsily on its hinges when Pat and Lily pushed it open and went into the small green yard.

There was a red-brick walk that went around the house to the kitchen door, and Pat, carrying the two suitcases, led the way to the back of the house.

From the open windows of the kitchen came the sound of a woman's voice singing "My Old Kentucky Home," and of water running into a sink.

And along with those melodious sounds an appetizing odor of fresh bread came floating out through the open windows.

"Mmm! Do you smell that? It reminds me that I'm hungry!" Lily said, as they went up the two steps that led to the back porch—the neatest back porch imaginable, with a scrubbed table in the middle of it, and three pies standing on it to cool. They were still steaming as if they had just been set there.

Pat pushed open the screen door and held it for Lily to pass into the house ahead of him.

In the middle of the kitchen stood Mrs. France, wiping her dripping hands on a snowy linen towel. Her steel-rimmed glasses were pushed back upon her forehead, and her blue eyes were round with amazement as she looked up and saw Lily and Pat on the threshold.

"Lord bless my soul!" she cried. "If it isn't Pat and that girl!" She had a way of thinking aloud sometimes that was very startling.

"What's happened, for pity's sake?" she asked, looking from them to the bags at their feet.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

I LISTENED with a feeling akin to panic to Lillian's admonition that I would have to watch my step where Philip Veritzen was concerned. It confirmed so patly a feeling of my own which I had striven to suppress, telling myself that I was not only alarming myself foolishly, but was also guilty of egregious vanity.

"What do you mean?" I asked with trembling banality.

"Exactly what I say," she retorted. "The man's over half in love with you already, and it won't take much to make him a one-hundred-per-center. And Phil Veritzen wholly in love would be some lad to manage."

A sudden flashing thought, not a new one, sent my eyes to hers, and I drove my courage to a retort in the same mocking tone she was using.

"Take it from you who knows!" I gibed.

She started, looked at me searchingly, then I laughed with patently gratified amusement.

"You're coming on, old girl," she said. "I didn't think you had it in you. Yes, take it from me who knows. Years ago, when Phil was much younger than he is now—also your friend," she pointed a mocking forefinger at herself—"he took it into his head that I was the one woman who could help him on his upward way. The trifling fact that both of us were married didn't bother him in the least. Phil has the comfortable attitude toward conventionality held in common by barnyard roosters and these modern advocates of self-expression—and it took all the tact and resourcefulness I possessed—not a great stock then, I will admit—to change him into the very good comrade and friend he always has been since that time.

"Don't look so horrified, old dear," she interrupted herself to admonish me. "Phil isn't a monster, nor is there any real harm in him. You'll never have to shriek for a policeman, nor will you have to declaim the 'R-rags are R-royal R-raiment' thing for his benefit. But you will have to be on your guard constantly to keep him from avowals that you won't enjoy and that aren't particularly good policy when mixed with professional association, especially when a man is your employer."

"If what you say is true, he won't be my employer very long," I said hotly.

"I knew it!" Lillian exclaimed, looking me over as if I were some new species of animal she had discovered. "I made a little bet with myself that this would be your first reaction to what I've said. That's one reason why I wanted to tell you these things before Phil began his campaign."

There was distinct scorn in her voice and I could not keep my astonishment from my face.

"Look here, Madge," Lillian went on crisply, "you're not a baby; neither are you a young girl without the brains or the resourcefulness to play Phil Veritzen's game and beat him. If you were, I'd advise you to throw up your contract at once."

"But," I mumbled, thoroughly bewildered, "what about Mary? Should she stay there?"

Lillian tapped her foot impatiently.

"Sometimes I wonder if you're all there above the ears," she said. "Do you think I ever would have proposed having Mary go under Phil's training if it hadn't been a perfectly safe proposition? Phil's not a cradle snatcher. The only interest he takes in a very young girl is the purely professional one of making her a star. But he's extremely susceptible to the combination of beauty and brains in an older woman, especially if she has the added attraction of being forbidden fruit because of marriage. I know he'd fall for you hard if he ever saw you."

A DAY of conflicting planetary influences may be responsible for the fluctuations in the tide of events. While there may be an advantage in a new undertaking or project, yet there are definite hazards in changes of an abrupt nature; travel itself may develop difficulties and disappointments.

It would be well to move cautiously and to consider much. Also beware fraud and treachery.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of certain opportunity in new connections or undertakings, but there are also hazards in change and in travel. Fraud or duplicity may develop, but be cautious and there may be some measure of advantage or gain.

A child born on this day may have some unusual talents, fitting it for secret negotiations or diplomacy, yet it may make frequent changes and be inconstant generally, unless given training in responsibility and steadiness.

Giuseppe Russo, minor of Unity, was convicted of involuntary manslaughter by a jury yesterday in Criminal Court before visiting Judge Charles M. Culver, of Bradford county. He was accused of responsibility for the death of William Moore, 70, of 6624 Lyric street, in an automobile collision along the Freeport road in Harmar township, May 30 last. The Moore car was parked off the road while Moore and his son, on a holiday fishing trip, were repairing a flat tire, and Russo, drunk and driving recklessly, according to state witnesses, ran into the parked car. Disposition was deferred.

LARGE PIMPLES LASTED A YEAR

On Face. Burned Badly. Healed by Cuticura.

"My trouble was caused by eating foods that were too rich. My face became affected with pimples that were hard, large and red. The pimples festered and scaled over, and disfigured my face something terrible. They burned badly when I washed my face. The trouble lasted over a year.

"I used lots of other remedies but without success. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they afforded relief the second day I used them, and in two weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Alice Miller, 2557 N. Cadwallader St., Phila., Pa., Sept. 23, 1927.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Lull Follows Holiday Fortnightly Climax as Trunks Are Packed for Winter Resorts

IT IS really amazing how completely empty a social calendar can be! Last week and the week before, parties simply trod on each others' heels, and it was almost a physical impossibility to wedge them all into the days. That holiday fortnight, of course, was the climax of a season which began with the first days of November and now is suddenly over.

A good many, as is to be expected, are packing up their summeriest clothes, their golf clubs and tennis racquets and are preparing to migrate south, while still others have decided that they will go to California or Europe this year. But before that they must get their children back to school and settled for the next few months. Most of the college girls and men have already concluded their holiday, but a majority of the young people who are in preparatory or finishing schools will remain at home until early next week.

The debutantes, too, are at last getting a breathing spell, and several are planning out-of-town trips either to visit friends or to stop for a while in New York. Among them is that attractive Sewickley bud, Marie McBride. Marie and her mother, Mrs. William McBride, are going to leave on Sunday for New York, where they will spend a week.

A group of friends of the two hostesses will serve as aides tomorrow at the tea which Mrs. Harry F. Sheldon, of Beechwood boulevard, and her daughter, Mrs. William M. McKelvy, of Kinsman road, are to give in the Twentieth Century Club. The hours, you know, are to be from 4 to 6 o'clock. The tea is given for a February bride and one of the season's debutantes. They are Elizabeth Lewis, daughter of Mrs. Laura Fawell Lewis, of Amberson avenue, who is to be married to John Haynes Follansbee, son of the John Follansbees, on February 2, and Anne Louise Marshall, daughter of the Lee Homes Marshalls, of Dunmoyle place.

The bride wore a frock of pale pink taffeta and silk net with a bouffant tulle skirt, and she carried butterfly roses and lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor, Miss Norma Isabel Grunagle, appeared in a period frock of pale blue taffeta, and her flowers were snapdragon and roses. James Finley Ewing, Jr., was his brother's best man. ### CLUB HEARS DOCTOR TELL OF DIET FADS Diet, food fads and a few plain truths were discussed before the Wednesday Afternoon Club of Wilkinsburg yesterday afternoon when the members gathered in the home of Mrs. D. W. Flint, Overton street. The speaker was Dr. J. M. Thorne of the Allegheny County Medical Society, who had as his subject, "Food, Thoughts and Facts." In an interesting manner he talked of diet and touched on the various fads which many women accept in their efforts to reduce their weight. Concerning these he said a single diet is not desirable and advocated a well-balanced, mixed diet. A woman of 40 needs only about half the amount of food required by a younger person, he pointed out. Mrs. Minerva Cochrane sang, with Mrs. F. M. Storer at the piano for her accompaniments.

SMOKING WOMAN PREACHER O. K.'D

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

No! Agnes Maude Royden, England's leading woman preacher, will not be barred from speaking in Pittsburgh because she smokes cigarets.

The Y. W. C. A. would have the barring to do. And it has no intention of so doing. This comes from Miss Esther Hawes, executive secretary.

Of course, Miss Hawes goes on to add they had never heard before that the authoress and missionary worker of Guild House, London, does smoke. As a matter of fact they doubt it. Even though she is said to have been barred from speaking in Chicago by the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and also by the Boston branch of the same society.

Miss Royden, 51, is quoted as saying she smokes cigarets because they steady her nerves.

Miss Royden is to speak here February 6, on "Psychology and Religion." She was here in 1922 and made many friends. Miss Hawes pays the tribute:

"Agnes Maude Royden is one of the finest women, spiritually, I have ever met. She has contributed so much to the social uplift of the world that it seems too bad this unfavorable comment should come up at this time. Those things are greatly exaggerated and I am not taking this very seriously. I believe it is another rumor and that it will all be cleared up by Miss Royden herself."

So, it seems, nothing will be done—except, of course, a lot of talking about the woman minister who dares to admit she smokes the naughty weed."

This must indeed be good news to the flappers who not only have grandmother and her corn cob pipe to refer to in case of criticism, but are fortified with another good argument in the person of the smoking parsoness.

Why be Fat?

When so many people, all about you, know an easy, pleasant way to reduce.

In every circle you enter now, slenderness prevails. Excess fat is the exception. New health and vitality has come with this reduction. Ask anybody who has found the way and he or she will urge you to adopt it.

This change has not been brought about by abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. Research men discovered, some two decades ago, a cause of excess fat. It lies in [illegible] in nutrition which calls for an extra supply of some factors.

The help they suggested was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Now people have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everyone knows, people who can tell them what this method does.

At one time, people feared Marmola—the results were so amazing. Now every box contains the formula, also all scientific reasons for the good results. And fear has been abolished.

Users of Marmola take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. They gain at the same time new vitality and health. And they know exactly why.

Go to Marmola. Do not suffer any longer the blights of over-weight. And do not think that reduction means starvation. Try what people have for 20 years been using with such results. You owe that to all who love you.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Origin of "Pin-Money"

"PIN-MONEY," as the name of a wife's allowance, dates back to the reign of Charles I of England. This monarch received about $2,500 a year from the pin-makers; this sum he handed over to his Queen for her private purse.

Acute Heart Pains and Their Causes

DR COPELAND

"ANGINA PECTORIS" is a name given to a group of symptoms. As the name indicates, it means, of course, pain in the chest, and indeed this is the chief symptom of the ailment.

Every time I have seen a person suffering from angina pectoris I have been impressed by the terrible suffering it produces. There are spasms of agonizing pain. They begin in the chest and radiate into the shoulder and arm, usually of the left side alone, but sometimes of both sides. If you have ever had the toothache or any form of neuralgia you can imagine how unpleasant it would be to have the pain multiplied a hundred times and located in the region of the heart. That is the experience of the sufferer from angina pectoris.

Whether these attacks are to be considered serious or not depends upon the condition of the heart. If this is in fairly normal condition, bad as they are, there is no danger of death from one of the attacks. True angina, associated with actual disease of the heart, is a serious condition. In this form the attack must be regarded as serious.

In the more common form, the type described by the doctors as "false angina," there is no likelihood of any serious result beyond the suffering itself. Let it be said for the comfort of those who have these attacks that true angina is very rare.

When the first attack of angina appears this should be taken as a warning to the victim to find out if possible what is responsible for this uncomfortable symptom.

There may be some disease of a remote organ which will have a lot to do with the development of the symptoms. It is wise to give careful attention to the teeth, sinuses, generative organs and intestinal tract. For the sake of the general health, as well as to guard against attacks of angina, these organs should be restored to normal condition.

If you are subject to angina pectoris your doctor will provide you with nitroglycerin, or amylnitrite to be used in the emergency. He will tell you all about these prescriptions.

Heat is a useful remedy applied in a hot-water bottle or in the form of hot compresses to the chest. This will be likely to afford considerable relief.

Sometimes obstinate constipation of gas formation in the stomach will bring on an attack. One half a teaspoonful of baking soda taken in hot water may help. The use of an enema is another means of relief.

The sufferer should be put to bed and kept quiet. Needless to say, the doctor should be sent for at once.

Answers to Health Queries

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

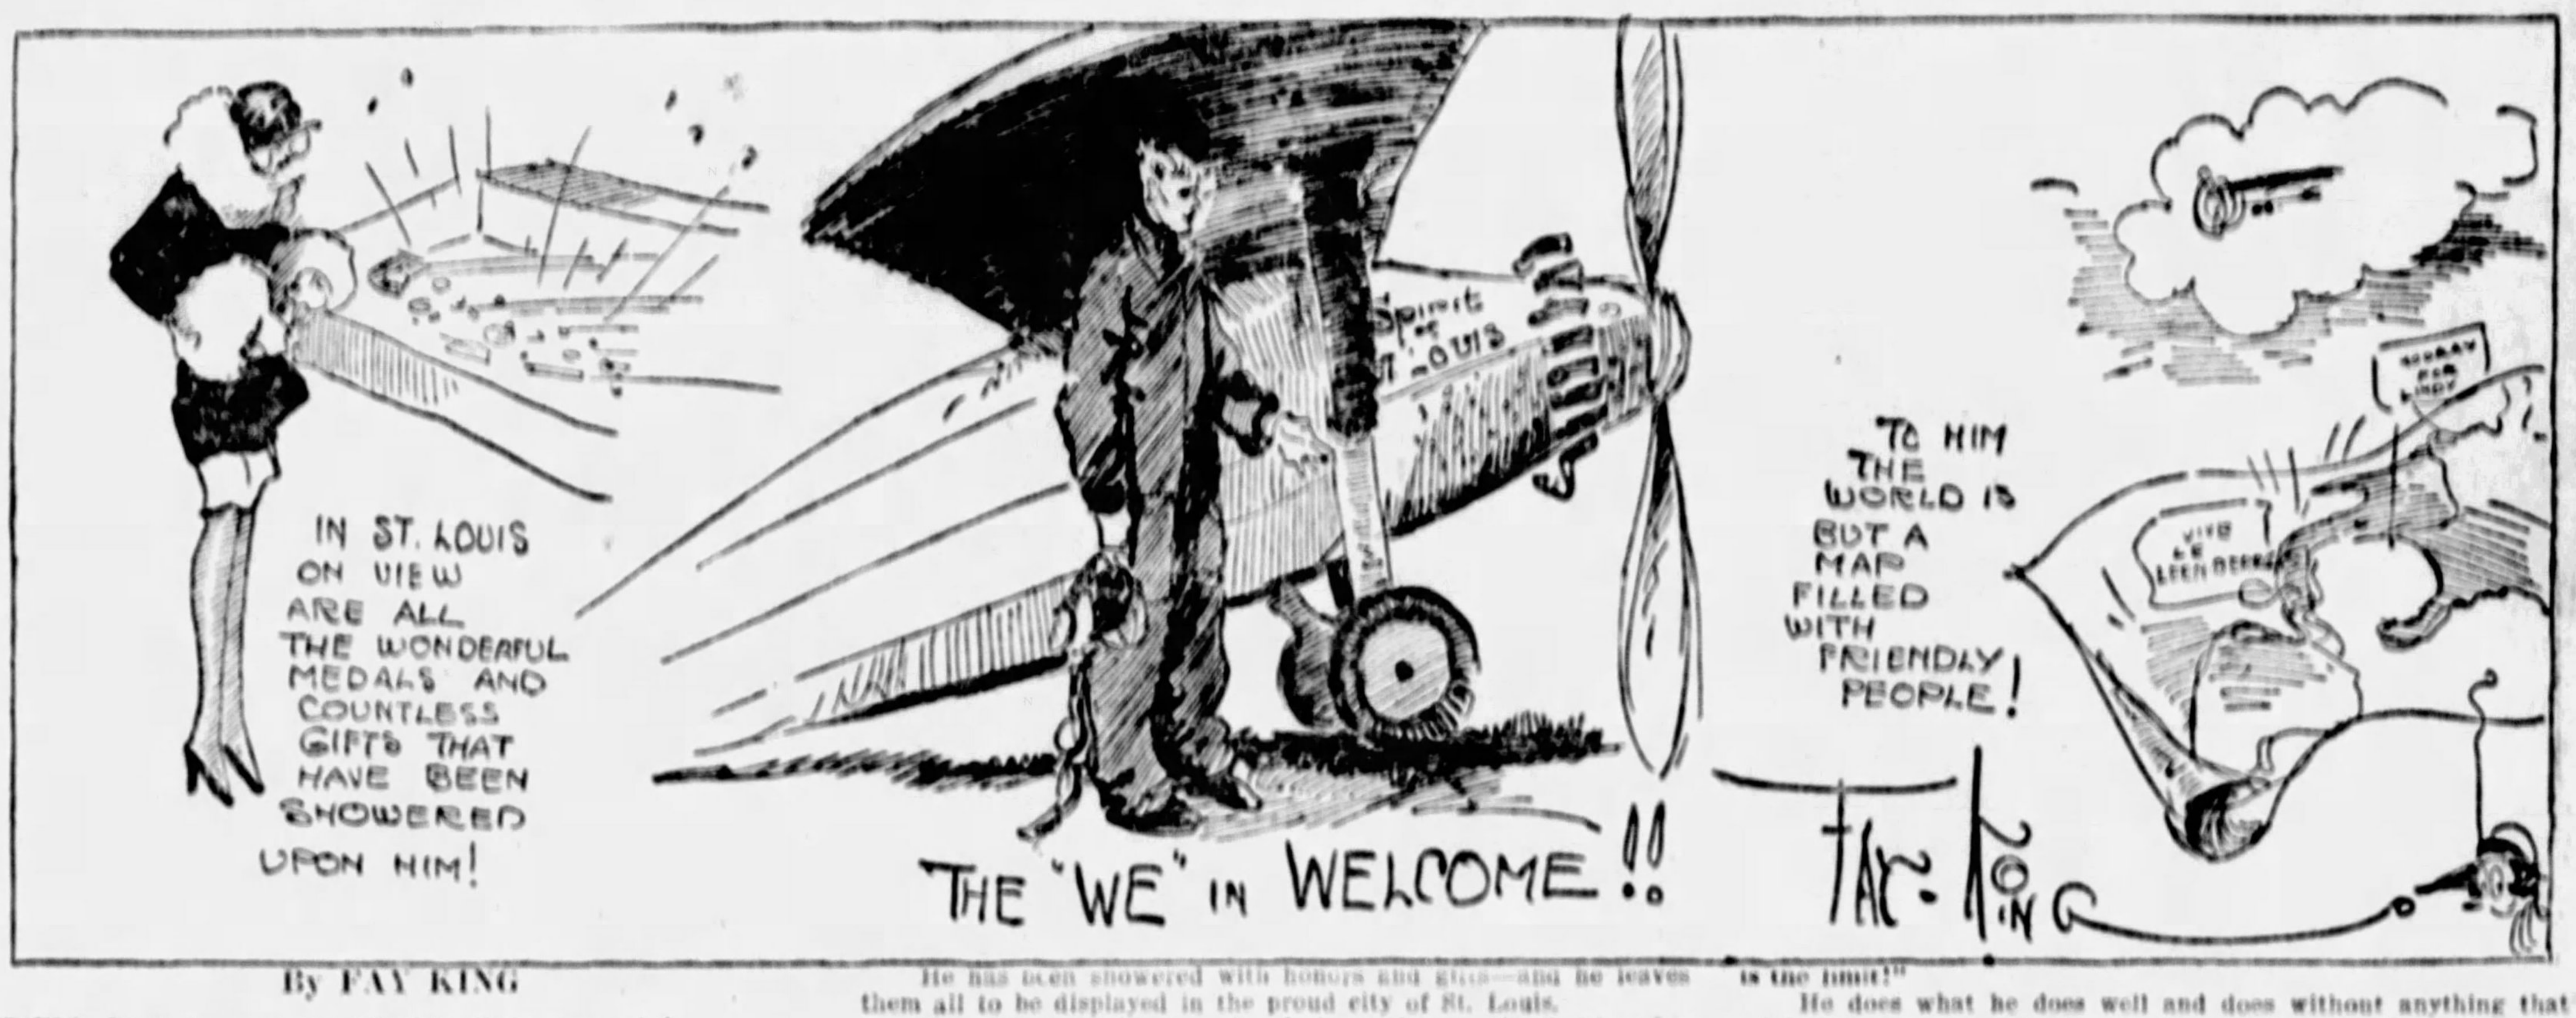
Lindy Puts "We" in Welcome, Says Fay King



IN ST. LOUIS ON VIEW ARE ALL THE WONDERFUL MEDALS AND COUNTLESS GIFTS THAT HAVE BEEN SHOWERED UPON HIM!
SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS
THE "WE" IN WELCOME!!
TO HIM THE WORLD IS BUT A MAP FILLED WITH FRIENDLY PEOPLE!
VIVE LE LINDBERGH
HURRAY FOR LINDY
FAY KING

By FAY KING

WELL, Lindy has put the "We" in Welcome again!

This time he has galloped across the clouds on his trusty steed, The Spirit of St. Louis, and landed in the hearts of Mexico!

Surely, to Lindy the whole world is just a map with "Welcome" written on it!

Courage is his passport.

Modesty and tact his universal tongue.

Lindy has resented being held up a paragon of virtue! I don't blame him.

He is much more than that! He is the personification of INDEPENDENCE!

He has been showered with honors and gifts—and he leaves them all to be displayed in the proud city of St. Louis.

Even his good ship has already been given to the Smithsonian Institution.

He has trained himself to do without sleep in preparaton of long flights so that he can fly alone!

He has shunned cigarets and liquor so that he can be utterly independent of any craving for them when he is forced to do without them.

His wants are few.

His ambitions impersonal. He cares only for the progress of aviation.

Here is a boy who can truthfully say that for him "the sky is the limit!"

He does what he does well and does without anything that might in any way interfere or lessen his self-reliance in what he does!

Lindy knows that a man is only indepndent so far as he is sufficient unto himself!

In Lindy the ambitious youth of the world may indeed find a great inspiration!

For he proves to the youth who dissipates, more because he dreads decoming a "horrible example" of virtue than because he really cares to do these things, that in not doing them one becomes not a "goody-goody"—but a glorious tower of supreme INDEPENDENCE!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

HOW TO STAY YOUNG

EVERYBODY is mad about YOUTH! Everybody is seeking the path to eternal youth by a hundred detours—most of them wrong!

There is just one royal road to Youth, and that is via the IMAGINATION.

* * *

It is the IMAGINATION that keeps us biologically and mentally young—and the loss of it that makes us old. Facial treatments, surgery, creams and calories are only little accessories, utterly futile, if you are going to let your imagination wither and dry rot.

HELEN ROWLAND

That is why so many young people are old at twenty. Their imaginations have been stifled. They don't BELIEVE in anything—fairies or Santa Claus or love or ideals.

"But you CAN'T believe impossible things!" said Alice in Wonderland.

"Oh, can't you!" said the Red Queen. "Have you ever tried?"

* * *

Well, you've GOT to believe a lot of "impossible things," if you want to stay young and be happy, in this more or less good old world!

You've got to believe that love will last forever, or you will never get any real thrill or any real "kick" out of it. And if it dies, you've got to go right on and believe that the NEXT love will last forever!

You've got to believe that youth will last forever, or you will live in a state of fear and horror of old age, which will draw wrinkles on your forehead and put gray hairs in your head.

You've got to believe that a man is telling the truth, even when you know he's lying; and that he is faithful, even when you catch him kissing another woman or detect the fragrance of her perfume on his coat-lapel. You've got to take him with blind faith—or let him alone!

You've got to believe in immortality and in your own divinity—or life will lose all its beauty and significance for you. You've got to believe in YOURSELF!

* * *

You've got to believe in your own genius, your own power, your work, your enthusiasms, your hopes and your purpose.

You've got to believe in OTHER people—your friends, your business associates, your employer and your employes. You've got to believe in HUMAN NATURE and its innate kindliness and decency.

* * *

You've got to look at yourself, the world and everything in it through a rosy haze of imagination—to gild life with hope, steady it with faith and beautify it with dreams. That is the secret of eternal youth—to keep the Lamp of Imagination always lighted within you, so that it shines through and makes you radiant. When the light goes out, you are old!

For the Lovelorn

Why Worry

DEAR MISS GALE:

I just read the letter written by "A Perfect Gentleman." Yes, there are still some nice girls left in Pittsburgh. I am 16 years old and a senior in high school. I don't dance, smoke, pet, drink, etc. and I would rather, as you say, take a good book and read all evening. I am quite popular with the boys at school, but still never have dates, because they know the way I feel and if they aren't of the same opinion it would do them no good. If some of the girls of today would listen more to your advice or read more good books they'd be better off. I suppose I would be considered too old-maidish for some girls. I lost a very good girl friend because I wouldn't smoke, but

"WHY WORRY."

You will never be sorry that you have kept your standards of conduct so high, my dear.

Wondering Brown Eyes

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl 18 years of age and I am considered very pretty and liked by almost everybody whom I know. There is a certain boy in the town in which I live that I like real well. He is about two years older than I. He has lived here a little over a year, and he lives just a little ways up the street from me. This boy has called on me quite often, but I don't know whether or not he really cares for me. By his actions I think he does. He does not want to get acquainted with the boys here, because they are always talking about the girls, and that is something he does not approve of. He works at night and every evening he stops to tell me good night. Now, Miss Gale, since I have told all about him I wonder if you think he really cares for me?

WONDERING BROWN EYES.

Unfortunately, my dear, I cannot tell

Sweet Delight

Melt one cupful of sugar in an iron frying pan until it forms a golden syrup. Put two cupfuls of sugar, a half cupful of milk, a heaping tablespoonful of butter into a saucepan and when it reaches boiling point add the yellow syrup and cook until it reaches the soft ball stage when a little is tried in cold water. Remove from the fire and add a teaspoonful of vanilla, and a half cupful of chopped pecan nuts. Beat until creamy, then pour into a well buttered pan and when almost cool mark off in squares.

Say! that's the best dessert I ever tasted

SPORT COMMENT

BULL BROWN.

NOW that the frequently revived rumor of the purchase of Infielders Lynn Lary and Jimmy Reese by the majors from the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League has been officially confirmed, the players to report in 1929, American League fans may expect to see two of the best young minor leaguers developed in a long time, according to Frank (Bull) Brown, Pittsburgh umpire, who worked in the Pacific Coast League last year.

Brown is as good at judging ball players as he is at umpiring, and that's saying a whole lot, as he is recognized as one of the best officials in the country.

The only reason why he is not on the National League staff is that his home is in Pittsburgh, League President John A. Heydler having adopted the policy of appointing no arbiters who reside in any of the National League cities.

IN DISCUSSING the purchase of Lary and Reese by the world champions, Bill said: "In that pair, the Yankees are getting two of the best young players in the Pacific Coast League. They form one of the most smoothly working double-play combinations I have ever seen around the midway in any league.

" 'Give it to me,' is the cry from one when the other fields a ground ball with a runner on first and none or one out. They do not merely pass the ball to each other in starting a double play. They actually throw it, and the speed with which they executed two-ply killings had much to do with the winning of the pennant by Oakland."

WHILE Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals was setting up a new record of 1,037 last year for chances accepted by a second-baseman in one season in the major leagues, Reese was smashing all marks of a similar nature previously made in the minor leagues. At second base for Oakland, Reese had 621 putouts and 652 assists, a total of 1,273 chances accepted, against only 23 errors for a percentage of .984.

LYNN LARY

The difference between Frisch's and Reese's totals is due to the fact that Frisch played in only 153 games while Reese took part in 195 contests.

ANOTHER boost for a minor league ball player entering the majors comes from Pip Koehler, former local basketball star with the Morrys, now with the Fort Wayne K. of C. professionals, who was in Pittsburgh yesterday with the Fort Wayne team, which played in McKeesport last night.

Koehler played on the Toledo baseball club last year with Fred Maguire, upon whom the Chicago Nationals are depending to fill the hole at second base caused by the trading of Sparky Adams to Pittsburgh in the Cuyler deal. Maguire already has had a couple of tryouts in the big show, but is tipe now, in Koehler's judgment.

"Maguire is a fine ball player now," said Pip, "and Chicago made no mistake in picking him up. That rumor that he had a bad leg was the bunk. He is as sound as a dollar and such a good player in all departments that I feel sure he

Fight For His Title

CHAMPION

CHALLENGER

Leo Lomski of Seattle is one of the most formidable challengers in any class today and is rated a tough opponent for Loughran to overcome. Leo has scored victories over Harold Mays, Maxie Rosenbloom, Yale Okun and Tony Marullo since coming East, and has been likened to the late Stanley Ketchel in his fighting style. He is a rough-and-ready slugger with a hard punch.

WOODMAN, SPARE THAT TREE!

Here is Lomski training in the outdoors for his battle with Loughran, which means so much to him. He swings a mean axe, as the tree would attest if it could speak. Lomski's training camp was pitched at Orangeburg, N. J. If he does not win tomorrow night—and Loughran is a 7-to-5 favorite over him—it will not be because Leo failed to work hard enough to fit himself for the test.

PITT WOULD PLAY FOUR FRAYS IN STADIUM

By JESS CARVER.

A TENTATIVE schedule for the proposed Eastern Conference Basketball League, composed of Syracuse, Colgate, New York U, Rutgers, Lafayette, Lehigh, Penn State, Georgetown, West Virginia and Pitt, would bring to Pittsburgh four crack Eastern college teams, in addition to the ones already scheduled to play here against the Pitt team.

New York U., Rutgers, Lehigh and Lafayette are the four schools that will send their varsity fives here if the new conference becomes a reality. And I have strong assurance that it will. Plans having to do with the formation of such a league have been under way for some time, and will probably come to a definite head tomorrow, when Syracuse comes here for a game with Pitt.

As the schedule now stands, each of the 10 teams would play nine games. In only one case, that of Georgetown, would it be necessary to add more than eight additional games to the regular schedule to get the league started this year. Pitt and Lehigh would have to add six games, the two schools that would get off the easiest.

Pitt has already booked four of the proposed conference teams, Syracuse, Penn State, Colgate and West Virginia, and has two games scheduled with both the Mountaineers and State, one of the two games with each of the latter fives would be non-conference contests. It may develop that one of these games will be dropped, thus giving all of the trio an opportunity to work in other needed conference bookings.

Panthers to Start Home Tonight

By Sun-Telegraph Special Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—The University of Pittsburgh's Golden Panthers, who have been sojourning on the Pacific Coast since last Saturday, and who were defeated by Leland Stanford in the annual Tournament of Roses contest at Pasadena, Monday, will bring their invasion of the West to a close tonight when they board their Pullmans for the long trip back to Pittsburgh.

Today's schedule calls for a visit to the University of California and Leland Stanford and a tour of 'Frisco's Chinatown. It will bring to a close a glorious three days of sight-seeing as California's guests, all of which has been heartily enjoyed by the Pitt party.

Yesterday the team paid a visit to Catalina Island, owned by William Wrigley. The picturesque resort, 20 miles out in the Pacific, is reached by boat, and the Panthers were royally treated on the excursion. Ollie DeVictor, the team's trainer, failed to survive the ground swell that was running and he became slightly seasick. He took to his berth as soon as the party arrived back at their Pullmans and turned up in good condition upon the arrival here this morning.

The team will entrain tonight for Salt Lake City, where the first step of the return journey will be made. The party will also stop at Denver and then will make a quick jump of it to Chicago and home. The arrival back in Pittsburgh is scheduled for Tuesday.

OLDTIMERS AT Y

One of the largest crowds in years is expected to turn out at the Young Men's Hebrew Association tonight for the battle between the Oldtimers, composed of Y. M. H. A. members who played basketball 20 years ago, and the present team, representing the Bellefield institution in amateur basketball.

DEMPSEY POOR SPORT, PREHN DECLARES

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—A tirade against Jack Dempsey for "unethical" boxing methods was made last night by Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois Boxing Commission, under whose regulations Dempsey sought unsuccessfully last September to win back the heavyweight title he lost to Gene Tunney.

Dempsey, said Prehn, addressing the Illinois Society of Engineers, "does not know the true meaning of sportsmanship." He has been known throughout boxing circles for years, Prehn said, as "one of the trickiest fighters."

In Prehn's opinion, Dempsey did not win his fight with Jack Sharkey.

"Sharkey was licking him," Prehn said, "and Dempsey had repeatedly fouled him. Sharkey was never out when he went down, nor was Tunney out when he went down in that seventh round at Soldier Field."

Leo Flynn, Dempsey's representative, made his long count protest to the commission because of the publicity it was bound to arouse.

The commission chairman explained the "long count" when a request was made from the audience of engineers for whom Prehn had been presenting a program of boxing and wrestling bouts.

"After the official count of three, Tunney could have got up," Prehn said. "At six or seven he was wide awake. If Dempsey had been allowed to remain in the near corner he would have attempted to hit Tunney as he came off the floor, just as he had done in bouts with Firpo and others. He got away with it before and thought he could get away with it again."

GENE TO FIGHT IN CHICAGO IN JUNE

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner, in a copyrighted news story today, says that definite plans are being formulated for Gene Tunney to defend his heavyweight championship here some time in June.

Tunney was understood to have agreed to meet the best opponent available.

The newspaper explained that the bout would be held in conjunction with the Democratic National Convention, should it be held here.

GENE SEES BIGGER GATES

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, at the banquet of Tex Rickard's 600 millionaires here last night, recounted fistic history and told his listeners that the time would come when the present $2,000,000 gates for championship bouts would be doubled.

GARFIELD JOHNSON TO BATTLE MAXIE

JUST when it appeared that the Motor Square Boxing Club would have to forego a show for next Monday night, Matchmaker Johnny Ray last night succeeded in closing a 10-round match between Maxie Rosenbloom of New York and Garfield Johnson, the Negro light-heavyweight of Seattle, who blew into Pittsburgh a few weeks ago and startled the natives by his Harry Greb-like form in defeating George Gemas of Philadelphia in a sensational battle in the East End arena.

Johnson set the fans to talking with his exhibition of swift maneuvering, fine boxing and the manner in which he stuck by his guns through a hurricane opening round in which Gemas, a sparring partner of George Godfrey, tried to sweep him off his feet. Ray originally planned to send him against Battling Levinsky, veteran former light-heavyweight champion, in his second start, but Levinsky is ill at his home in Philadelphia and thus is unavailable. It was just by a stroke of good fortune that Rosenbloom was secured to meet Johnson.

Maxie has shown here before, beating Homer Robertson in handy fashion at Motor Square earlier this season and exhibiting plenty of class. Last Monday night he whipped Frankie Schoell in a 10-round bout at Cincinnati and only recently he boxed Jimmy Slattery in a light-heavyweight elimination bout down East. If Johnson is able to turn in a victory over him the Black Thunderbolt will land right in the big money ranks with a loud splash.

Frank Gordini of Hazelwood, who has done most of his boxing around Cincinnati, but has appeared before at Motor Square, will meet Johnny Michaels, formerly of Jamestown, N. Y., but now of the Hill, in the eight-round semi-final.

JABS AND JOLTS

Phil (K. O.) Kaplan and Babe McGorgary box the semi-final to the 15-round battle between Tommy Loughrrn and Leo Lomski for the light-heavyweight title in Madison Square Garden, New York, tomorrow night. Jimmy Braddock meets Paul Swiderski and Jimmy Byrne boxes Jake Warren in eight-round preliminaries.

The Motor Square Club is at work on a battle between Willie Davies and Frankie Genaro, former champion of the flyweights and just about the only topnotcher in that class that Davies never has met, although several attempts have been made to bring them together.

Georgie Levine, the welterweight, who has been enjoying a rest for the last three months, returns to the ring January 20 in a 10-round bout with My Sullivan at St. Paul.

Mickey Fedor, former welterweight around here, is now located in Florida, where he is fighting successfully as a middleweight.

Bob Moody, local Negro amateur heavyweight star, will compete in the semi-finals of the all-heavyweight tournament at Cleveland next Wednesday night. He scored a

SPEAKING OF SPORTS
by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

IT appears that this department stirred up something the other day when comment was made to the effect that Pitt and Carnegie Tech should emulate Wash-Jeff and give Duquesne University recognition and a helping hand in athletics. The Dukes have been scheduled by Wash-Jeff for a football game next fall, but have been unsuccessful in repeated efforts to get on the schedules of Pitt and Carnegie Tech.

From an official source in the Carnegie athletic councils comes the word that Carnegie Tech is not going out of its way to discourage the rise of the Bluffites, but, on the contrary, would be only too glad to card the football and basketball teams of the local university if one existing condition were eliminated.

THAT condition is the participation of night school or special students on the varsity teams of the Dukes.

"Colleges and universities all over the country have got away from the idea of permitting night school students who take perhaps only one or two hours of study a week to represent them in athletics," this Tech man says, "and it is unfair for the Dukes to expect these institutions to permit them to get away with it. We have no inclination to fight out the issue with the Dukes in the newspapers or to provoke a quarrel otherwise, but it is a fact, and the Dukes know it, that this is the barrier that keeps them from meeting Pitt and Carnegie Tech in athletics. I am sure neither Carnegie nor Pitt would voice any serious objections to the fact that the Dukes do not have a freshman rule or even to their playing of transfer students in the absence of the migratory rule, but we must insist on this one point.

"WHY, do you know that we have more night school students out here at Tech than we have day students and that many of them are good athletes and frequently come to our athletic department and beg us to arrange some sort of sport schedules for them and we have to turn them down because there is no competition available for them?

"If the Dukes want to meet us, we will be glad to do so on either of these two bases:

"1—We will oppose them in varsity competition, with an understanding that night school students will not be available, or,

"2—We are well fixed to get together teams of exclusively night school students to oppose their night school athletes."

"The athletic powers that be on the Bluff are well aware of our position. We have had several informal talks on the matter. They know what changes we demand before arranging games with them and if they really want to play us they will lose no time in correcting their situation."

IT is only fair that part-time students should not be permitted to compete in varsity athletics, and Pitt and Tech thus are not asking for much when they demand that the Dukes meet them on the same basis as they oppose their rivals. If the Dukes cannot muster good teams from their full-time students then they have no right to expect to play in big-time company. However, it would seem that with a little extra effort this could be accomplished and then it would be up to Pitt and Tech to take them on or leave themselves open to deserved censure. At least we know now, definitely, what is keeping the two major local institutions of learning and the Dukes apart on the athletic field.

WHAT is more ridiculous and futile than a flyweight elimination tournament?

The answer is two or more of them.

For we read in the papers that Newsboy Brown defeated Johnny McCoy, the winner of the California tournament, the other night.

So far three tournaments have been held with this result:

California tournament—Newsboy Brown eliminated, Corp. Izzy Schwartz beaten by Willie Davies, Willie Davies eliminated by Johnny McCoy.

New York tournament—Won by Schwartz who turned the tables on Davies. Newsboy Brown also eliminated.

Canadian tournament—Newsboy Brown beaten by Frenchy Belanger.

And now Newsboy Brown, beaten in all three tournaments, beats McCoy, winner of the first tournament.

Bluff Quint Not at Best

By JESS CARVER.

IT IS to be hoped, at least by followers of the Duquesne Dukes, that this St. Canisius five, booked to oppose the locals on the Bluff gym tonight, isn't too tough. The Dukes will be playing their second contest of the week, and are in worse shape for this game than they were for Muskingum Monday.

The touring Buffalo team downed Waynesburg last night on the Jackets' own court by a 30-20 score. This will be recognized as no mean feat, for the Jackets have as good a team as they boasted last year when they hung up 11 consecutive wins and gave the Dukes a stiff battle in the Conference.

Jock Rosenberg will again watch the game from the bench, still unable to don a uniform. His injured knee has failed to come around and is in no condition to carry Jock's weight and bear the bumps that Jock always gets. Rather than take a chance on losing the big fellow for the important Conference campaign, which opens next week, Chick Davies plans to keep him on the bench again tonight.

In addition to Rosenberg, the Dukes may have to battle the Buffalo varsity this evening minus the services of Capt. Reich and Joe Vernon. They have been more or less crippled up all season, and the Muskingum game didn't improve them a bit.

With these three men out of the game, Davies will be forced to shift his lineup considerably. Losman will jump center, replacing Vernon, Collodi and Stevens will get the call at the forwards, and Benedict and Silverstein or Lubic will probably be at the guards. The game will start promptly at 8:15. Buck Baird and Beggs Snyder are to officiate.

Carnegie Tech's none too impressive varsity basketball squad was dealt a wallop yesterday when it was learned that Ralph Hitchcock, guard, would not be able to make the opening trip of the season to West Virginia, which starts today. Hitchcock is ill and will be unable to don a uniform before the middle of next week, it was said last night.

The loss of Hitchcock at this late hour will force Coach Irwin to make a shift in his plans for a starting lineup, and throws the Tech machinery dangerously out of gear. Davis-Elkins is to be played at Elkins, W. Va., tomorrow and West Virginia will be the Tartan opponent Saturday at Morgantown.

Corp. Izzy Schwartz, the new flyweight, meets Harry Goldstein at Boston, January 20.

Pauline Uzcudun boxes Quintin Romero Rojas at Mexico City January 29 and will meet George Godfrey in California later.

Five Johnstown amateur boxers will compete in the open tournament at McKeesport next week.

Jackie Rodgers, Negro flyweight, [illegible] of the North Side, and Bobby Burke of Reading have been matched for a 10-round windup at Johnstown a week from next Monday night. Lino Jordan will appear in the semi-final.

SCHEDULE

This could also be done in the cases of other schools.

The schedule for 1928 would call for games at home and abroad for the 10 schools in the following arrangement:

Syracuse—at home—Penn State, Georgetown, Pitt, W. Va. Abroad—Colgate, New York, Lafayette, Rutgers and Lehigh.

Colgate—at home—Syracuse, Penn State, Georgetown, Pitt and W. Va. Abroad—New York Rutgers, Lafayette and Lehigh.

New York—at home—Syracuse, Colgate, Lafayette and Lehigh. Abroad—Rutgers, Penn State, Pitt, Georgetown and W. Va.

Rutgers—at home—Syracuse, Colgate, New York, Lafayette and Lehigh. Abroad—Penn State, Pitt, Georgetown and W. Va.

Lafayette—at home—Syracuse, Colgate, Penn State and Georgetown. Abroad—New York, Rutgers, Lehigh, Pitt and W. Va.

Lehigh—at home—Syracuse, Colgate, Lafayette, Penn State, Georgetown. Abroad—New York, Rutgers, Pitt and W. Va.

Penn State—at home—New York, Rutgers, Georgetown, Pitt and W. Va. Abroad—Syracuse, Colgate, Lafayette and Lehigh.

Georgetown—at home—New York, Rutgers, Pitt and W. Va. Abroad—Syracuse, Colgate, Lafayette, Lehigh and Penn State.

Pitt—at home—New York, Rutgers, Lafayette and Lehigh. Abroad—Syracuse, Colgate, Penn State, Georgetown and W. Va.

West Virginia—at home—New York, Rutgers, Lafayette, Lehigh and Pitt. Abroad—Syracuse, Colgate, Penn State and Georgetown.

The schedule is so arranged that in most cases, teams playing abroad could clean up their road contests in two-game trips. For example, West Virginia could take Syracuse and Colgate on successive nights on one trip and take the road again and play Penn State and Georgetown in two days.

will make his mark in the big show."

Koehler himself is coming up to the fast set this year, and, singularly enough, will be on the same team as Maguire, the Cubs having obtained him from Toledo for a trial as an outfielder.

THE lure of the "big stuff" in New York, a chance to appear in the ring in the place where the boxing solons are pleased to consider themselves the rulers of the whole Queensberry realm, appears to make some fighters forget their moral obligations to other fistic powers that have gone to extremes in their behalf.

TONY CANZONERI

Fans who have been wondering to what extent Benny Bass, recognized by Pennsylvania and the National Boxing Association as featherweight champion, would appreciate the action of the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission in breaking with the New York body in defense of his titular rights, have their answer in the announcement that Bass is going to meet Tony Canzoneri in New York on January 27 under conditions that mean a complete submission to the dictation of the Empire State Commission.

WHEN Bass beat Red Chapman in Philadelphia in September, the Pennsylvania commission declared him featherweight champion. New York refused to recognize him as the new titleholder, declaring that he must first meet Canzoneri in New York.

The commissions "split" over the question, and when the Bass-Canzoneri match was proposed the attitude of the Pennsylvania commission was that Bass should not be allowed to fight in New York except as champion. New York said he could not come in as anything more than a contender.

It was up to Bass to bow to New York's will or stick by the commission which had pronounced him champion and had gone the limit in defense of him. The outcome was that he yielded to New York's ruling and in a sense threw down the Pennsylvania body that had been fighting for him. A queer sort of gratitude, it would seem.

The question now is whether or not the Pennsylvania commission will suspend Bass for disobeying its wishes in going into New York except as champion. Some kind of punishment would appear to be coming to Benny.

OFF-SEASON baseball fakers are busy again. The latest rumor, and the most ridiculous of the entire lot, is that the Yankees are going to trade First Baseman Lou Gehrig to the Athletics. There is about as much chance of this happening as there is of Pie Traynor being traded to the Phillies.

LOU GEHRIG.

Even Connie Mack, manager of the A's, could not withhold a guffaw when asked about the rumor.

"I hardly know what to say about that," he laughed. "My notion is that if the Yankees were offered an entire big league ball club in exchange for Gehrig, or a million dollars in cash, they could not afford to make the deal.

"This has been a great winter for denying reports. I don't understand how a report like this could get itself printed. As a guess at possible news it is the wildest yet. I would say it is about as good a shot as the old Louisiana Lottery."

CLEVELAND UNFAIR IN ACTIONS CLAIM

By TOM BIRKS.

THE sudden lifting of a two months' suspension dealt the Caraffi brothers, stars of the American-Hungarian soccer team of Cleveland, on the night before the recent National Challenge Cup game between the Clevelanders and the Pittsburgh Soccer Club is being questioned by local soccer followers, who see in the action an unfair procedure on the part of the Cleveland soccer officials.

The American-Hungarians won the game played two weeks ago in Cleveland by a 2-0 score. On the Thursday preceding the game, it is said, the Caraffi boys were suspended for alleged rough tactics on the playing field, a stiff two-months' sentence being handed down. It is claimed by local soccer folks that on the evening before the game the services of the two former Pittsburgh players were found to be indispensable, and the ban was lifted. Local fans claim that the Cleveland officials should have stood by the suspension, regardless of the importance of the Pittsburgh game.

The national amateur cup committee will be in Pittsburgh Saturday evening for the third round draw of the National Amateur Cup. It is expected that Armstrong Patterson of Detroit, first vice president of the national body; Bill Angus of Cleveland, another vice president, and Tom Smith of Detroit, another popular Michigan soccer official, will be here for the draw.

The West Penn-Valley Referees' Association will hold a meeting Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Secretary Frank Hulet wants all of the boys on deck as the business on hand is of the utmost importance.

Three games are scheduled in cup ties for Sunday. German Sport A. will meet Pittsburgh, Turtle Creek Thistles will invade Curry for the replayed game with the International and then Braddock and Westinghouse will make another effort to settle differences in the elimination series.

U. S. G. A. TO MEET

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(UP.)—Members of the United States Golf Association will hold their annual meeting at the Hotel Astor tomorrow and Saturday. H. H. Ransal, secretary, announced that the greens section committee would hold a separate meeting at both days of the session.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Says glass of salts help to overcome Rheumatism acid.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kind.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation, which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

Forbes

Forbes Forecasts Likely Course of Trade in 1928.

By B. C. FORBES

FORTUNATELY, 1928 promises not to be a sensational year. This, notwithstanding that a presidential election comes in November.

The indications are that the moderate recession in business, which has ruled during the last six months, is already beginning to give way to recovery. In my judgment this recovery will have become rather substantial by spring.

The summer months may bring, as they often do, hesitancy, irregularity, perhaps symptoms of fairly pronounced uneasiness.

The next definite trend in business will be governed by the crystalization of sentiment in high places on how the election is likely to result.

My guess is that confidence will develop shortly after Labor Day and that it will first be reflected in the stock market. My guess is, also, that the outcome of the election will be interpreted as satisfactory to finance and business and that 1928 will end more auspiciously than it has begun.

MEANWHILE, however, I look for rather drastic readjustment in the quotations for many of the stocks which have been gaily marked up, under the leadership of powerful speculators, regardless of actual developments such as customarily exercise a sobering effect on bullish demonstrations.

This readjustment in the stock market may come sooner rather than later. That it will come sooner or later this year, I haven't the slightest doubt.

When it does come, careful investors should profit by the opportunity to select trustworthy stocks, especially those of our larger, ably-managed industrial enterprises.

Whether railway stocks will then be attractive will depend, first, upon the extent of their decline and, second, upon the stand taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission towards consolidations. The attitude taken by Congress, and the United States Supreme Court's decision on the basis on which railway valuations shall be computed and on the constitutionality of the "recapture" of half of all earnings above six per cent on the investment.

FUNDAMENTAL conditions at the opening of the year are very sound, generally speaking.

True, we have lately witnessed a decrease in railway traffic of 10 per cent under last year's and of a smaller percentage under previous years. The net earnings of many industrial, as well as railway companies, have decreased considerably during the last few months. Quietness has characterized the iron and steel, the automobile, the textile and several other industries, while the oil industry has continued chaotic because of overproduction, building operations have been uneven, and employment has slackened somewhat at various centers.

But the steel industry already shows signs of doing better, the automobile world confidently counts upon marked quickening of activity, oil leaders are cooperating to bring about more businesslike conditions and the employment outlook is reasonably good.

MONEY rates may advance a little due to the billion-dollar expansion in loans, the exportation of $200,000,000.00 in gold to date and prospects of a continuance of the outflow, prospective moderate increase in commercial borrowing and heavy flotation of new securities following the 1927 offerings of $9,500,000,000. But it is certain that interest rates will not become so large as to impede business.

We can count upon a higher volume of purchasing from agricultural states than at any time during recent years, thanks to a gain of $620,000,000.00 in the value of last year's crops, the improvement in land values now beginning to appear, the notable progress which has been made in reducing agricultural obligations, the higher prices of cattle and the rise in the price level for agricultural products to a point distinctly above the level for manufactured products.

America is keyed to a higher pitch of efficiency than ever before. Our transportation system, our electric power facilities, our wage-earners, our manufacturing processes, our banking facilities, our fact gathering machinery, understanding between industry and the public, all these make for greater achievement and more satisfactory results than at the opening of any other year in our history.

Our normal national course is towards growth and prosperity. To reason, however, that business "cycles" are wholly a thing of the past is childish, because human nature has not changed and human nature, individuals, groups, nations, undergo spells of optimism and pessimism, courage and cowardice, expansion and contraction.

IF WE act as mental adults and not as children, if we refuse to let the impending presidential campaign frighten us, then the American people should fare satisfactorily during 1928.

(Copyright, 1928, by B. C. Forbes.)

DRASTIC UTILITY RULING MADE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—The railroad commission passed the most drastic resolution of its kind ever adopted, ordering that all public utilities corporation operators in California supplement their 1927 annual reports with a sworn statement showing all monies spent for political purposes and the purposes for which such expenditures were incurred.

This includes allocations of compensation of executives, officers and employes for time devoted to political purposes, as in electing or defeating a candidate or measure on the ballot in any state, county, municipality or other election during the year.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Assertions that European import requirements have been underestimated to a material extent were a factor in making wheat prices average higher early today. On the other hand houses with Winnipeg connections were sellers here, presumably spreading against purchases at Winnipeg. Opening at ⅛c to ⅜c advance, Chicago wheat held near to the initial range.

Corn and oats were also firmer, corn starting ⅛c to ¼c up and subsequently showing further gains.

Referring to advices current today that trans-Atlantic wheat import needs have been seriously underestimated, friends of higher prices gave stress to statements that actual German imports, although aggregating 28,800,000 bushels for three months, are well below requirements. According to an estimate from a leading trade authority the amounts taken by Germany during the spring months will be upon a still larger scale, with French sources also indicating larger requirements than heretofore recognized.

Fresh upturns in the value of corn today were aided by purchases on the part of Chicago speculators. Small receipts in the west were again a factor and country offerings overnight were small. Besides, the forecast was for less favorable weather.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—The raw sugar market was quieter early today with no sales reported. Prices were unchanged at 4.40c for Cubas, duty paid, with offerings at this level, but buyers holding off.

The raw sugar futures market opened fairly steady at from 1 point decline to 1 point advance, and after gaining an additional point on some positions on covering and a little European buying, prices eased off under increased hedge selling and liquidation, with the market at midday net 1 point lower. Trading was not very active, and there appeared to be a good deal of exchanging, buyers of the near positions selling the later months. The London market was steady, but the more liberal offerings in the spot market seemed to discourage fresh buying.

In refined sugar prices were unchanged at 5.75c to 5.90c for fine granulated, with a fair inquiry reported.

Bank of England.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes, in pounds: Total reserve increased 872,000; circulation decreased 265,000; bullion decreased 166,000; other securities increased 17,288,000; public deposits decreased 844,000; other deposits increased 18,755,000; notes reserve increased 927,000; government securities decreased 285,000. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 21.96 per cent; last week it was 24.14 per cent. Rate of discount, 4½ per cent.

STOCKS BREAK ON FLOOD OF SALES

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP.)—A sweeping reaction followed by a partial recovery took place in today's stock market. Early selling was based on the unexpectedly large increase in stock exchange member loans with the subsequent recovery influenced by the reduction in call money rates from 4½ to 4 per cent, as against an opening rate of 5½ yesterday. Trading was in tremendous volume, the ticker falling nearly half an hour behind the market despite the abbreviated quotation system put into effect a few weeks ago. Judging by the turn-over in the first three hours, the day's sales promised to run well over 3,000,000 shares.

Spectacular declines took place in some of the recently strong specialties. Midland Steel Products preferred broke 28 points to 252 and rallied to 265 by early afternoon. Greene Cananea Copper collapsed 15½ points to 139 and snapped back above 145. International Harvester, Union Carbide, Brooklyn Edison, Otis Elevator, Air Reduction and Collins and Aikman tumbled 5 to 6 points.

United States Steel, American Smelting, Allied Chemical and General Motors all sold down 3 to nearly 5 points. Rails yielded with the industrials, although the declines were not as large.

In addition to lower money rates, the afternoon recovery also was stimulated by the reported increase in steel mill operations and predictions of a substantial gain in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation, which will be made public next Tuesday.

New Haven led the rally, moving up more than 2 points to 66¼, the highest price in 12 years.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 5 points, active months showing net losses of about 6 to 9 points in early trading under liquidation and local selling.

Offerings were comparatively light, and after the decline to 19.28 for March, prices firmed up on covering and trade buying, with that delivery selling up to 19.45, and active months showing net advances of about 4 to 7 points by the end of the first half hour.

Private cables said there had been some continental selling in Liverpool but later the news from Manchester was more encouraging, demand for cotton cloths showing an improvement in many directions.

The rally from the early decline appeared to meet slightly increased offerings, and the market eased off again under a renewal of liquidation, with a little local and southern selling. March declined to 19.20c and active months generally showed net losses of about 14 to 18 points, but the market was narrow enough to be influenced by comparatively small orders either way and prices were 4 or 5 points up from the lowest at midday on covering.

Main List Holds Steady Here

United Engineering new stock got away to a fast start at the opening of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today as traders bought the stock on a "hot tip" that favorable news was likely to be forthcoming shortly.

Assumption in the Street was that dividend action on the present shares, a six-for-one split-up of the old issue, will be taken soon and that a basis of payment will be established which will make the stock attractive at current levels.

Opening sales were at a fraction above yesterday's close, but demand for the issue was strong and subsequent buying forced the quotation up more than a point. Several hundred shares were handled on the initial spurt from 56¼ to 58.

The big shake-out on the New York Exchange had no appreciable effect on quotations here. The general list held steady, and while there were a few fractional recessions from the early prices, the general price level gave no indication that the selling on the "big board" was bringing out any liquidation here.

Audit Must Be Made Of County's Finances

Judge James B. Drew has taken under advisement a petition from County Controller Robert G. Woodside requesting authorization for an independent audit of the county's finances, together with leave to postpone making his annual report until after completion of the examination of the county's fiscal status. The court is uncertain as to its jurisdiction in the matter as there is said to be no precedent for action.

The court, of course, will act according to its legal lights, but even if permission does not come directly from the bench an audit that will satisfy the public must be conducted. The new Board of County Commissioners favors an audit, according to reports of what occurred at its first meeting this week. If the court finds it cannot take a hand in the matter, the Commissioners and Controller Woodside should not find it difficult to arrange for the examination of the county's books.

Controller Woodside took the wise course in going to the court first for permission to act, even though the controller's office and that of the county commissioners are much more in rapport than they were in recent months when an independent audit was sought by the former controller. If the court decides to keep hands off, it will be a sign that the two offices may proceed according to their own interpretation of the law in the matter.

Former Controller McGovern sought co-operation with the former commissioners in conducting an audit and he proceeded independently when assistance was withheld. Whatever motives actuated the old board, they cannot be of effect now. The old majority on the board still is in power and it always insisted there was nothing in the county's fiscal affairs that could not be made known.

The commissioners have taken action favorable to an audit. The new controller wants an audit. The public wants an audit. Let it be thorough and all-revealing. Let it be soon. Let its beginning mark the end of differences between members of the county commissioners in order that its work may proceed harmoniously and expeditiously.

The public has confidence in all of its officials, but business is business and thorough audits periodically are necessary to successful business.

Birth Control in Europe

An Important Question Widely Discussed

A question interesting millions in Europe, Asia, and many in this country, is the question of birth control. This means the right of woman to decide how many children she will have, and when she will have them, instead of leaving the arrival of children to chance, sometimes crowded too close together for their own and the mother's good.

Among industrialists, and especially among those whose religion opposes any effort to control birth, discussion of birth control is disliked, and the suggestion that information on birth control be given out freely is violently and successfully opposed.

In Europe and other places, Japan for instance, public opinion is different.

In Japan, too much population is the great problem, and knowledge of birth control is considered by many a necessary part of the knowledge of hygiene. Holland permits public birth control clinics—Mussolini forbids the subject. He wants more Italians.

France has practiced birth control, perhaps too well, cutting down the birth rate in a manner alarming to the French. This, however, did not keep France from holding the prolific German nation at Verdun, or keep France from winning the war.

German authorities, in some places, not only permit, but encourage birth control, if not officially, at least by withholding opposition.

It has been said that if birth control were taught, the result would be smaller families among the RICH, with families just as big among the POOR, the latter being unwilling "to be bothered." But figures do not prove this.

Bremen, in Germany, for instance, in 1901, had an average of 1.27 children for wealthy families, and 4.49 for the families of mechanics and the poor.

Twenty-four years later, with knowledge of birth control widely spread, the number of children among the wealthy had increased slightly, 1.47 per family, and the number of children among mechanics and artisans per family was reduced from 4.49 to 1.92.

This indicates that when the poor know HOW to cut down their families they cut them down.

It would have been a bad thing for the world if birth control had been understood and practiced during the last few centuries.

War, famine, poverty, hunger, killed millions. And the mothers were obliged to make up for all the deaths, producing new children to fill armies, workshops, replace plague and famine victims.

However, disease has been conquered largely. Famines are rare And according to many scientists, the problem of the world will soon be "TOO MUCH POPULATION."

Under the circumstances it is for each country to decide what if anything it wants to do about legalizing the spread of information about birth control.

Offhand you would say that each woman, NOT some law maker, should decide how many children she would have, and when she would have them.

On the other hand, birth control would certainly have prevented the arrival of Caruso, who was a nineteenth child; of Napoleon, who came after several other children, and of many others among the great men of the world.

Almshouses for the Aged Are a Blot on Our Nation

The United States is the only modernized country in the world which sends its aged and helpless poor to the poorhouse. It is cruel. It separates aged couples. It wounds their self-respect. And it at best is wasteful.

An inquiry recently made in Pennsylvania revealed that for the cost of an inmate in a county almshouse in this state three persons could be supported in greater comfort in their own homes.

The best information at hand places at 1,800,000 the number of aged Americans who are dependent upon relatives or upon public or private charity.

We have here more than a problem in sentiment. Life's veterans beyond the age of complete self-help must somehow be sheltered, fed and clothed. Where the near of kin do not assume this burden it has to be lifted by others.

The only debatable area is as to the manner of the relief. Since few dispute that the almshouse method is antiquated, cruel and wasteful, we are faced with the necessity of devising a better way.

Make It Short

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I THINK it is D. L. Moody who tells of a man who, when he was dying, said: "I may have done many a wrong thing, but I have never done a long one."

The least you can do is to make it short. If what you do is wrong it doesn't last very long. If what you do is right it is all the better for being brief.

Brevity is the soul of wit, and it is also the soul of common sense.

Don't use two adjectives to describe a thing. One is enough. Don't say a thing and then exercise your ingenuity by saying it over again.

Writing conduces to brevity because, as someone has said, writing is like shooting at a mark with a rifle, while speaking is like trying to hit the same mark with a stream of water from a nozzle.

The world is on the run. Most people are and always will be in a hurry.

The fate of the third verse is something for those who seek the public ear to ponder on.

A lengthy article with long, solid-appearing paragraphs has as much chance of being widely read as have the words of the third verse of the closing hymn when the minister has run past a dozen fine terminal sentences.

Brevity is the soul of attraction as well as of wit.

If a short article turns out to be a "dud" it at least isn't a long-winded "dud."

A short, pointed article, if it contains a thought, is more likely to set you thinking than a long one. It gives you time in the present. A long article requires your leisure to read and then something else requires attention by the time you finish it.

There is a charm about rambling writers like Charles Lamb when you have an evening to spend under a reading lamp on a winter's night.

But in the everyday turmoil of the work-a-day world the one who has something to say and says it in the fewest words has the best chance to be heard.

An American magazine editor pays an English woman writer a dollar for each word of her short stories.

He says she can pack more into 10 words than most writers can put into 200.

A literary model many writers might study with profit is the telegram.

The short article attracts in the first place because it is short. It gives the idea a chance to be heard. But if the article has nothing to say, mere briefness is to no purpose.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Celestial Geography

THE first step for the amateur astronomer is to learn the geography of the sky. The geography of the earth we see by small bits, bounded by a horizon that is never more than a few miles distant, because we are infinitesimal living mites on the surface of an immense globe, which we cannot push away from us in order to look at it as a whole. But an entire half of the geography of the heavens is visible to us at one view, because we are at the center of the hollow sphere of the heavens, and look up at it sweeping all around us and over our heads.

Exactly what part of the heavens is thus visible to us at any time depends upon the latitude and longitude of our position on the earth. As referred to the aspect of the heavens the longitude is linked with the time of day or night, but the effect of latitude remains unchanged as long as we do not alter our distance from the equator. Consequently, any map showing the heavens at any place at any given time, must be arranged for that latitude (nearly) and also for not only a certain date (nearly), but also for a certain hour, on that date. The advantage of the moveable maps called planispheres, or star-and-planet-finders, is that they are adjustable to date and hour, as well as arranged permanently for latitude.

Now, with the opening of the year, the beginner may advantageously commence his acquaintance with the celestial geography. The January evenings are dazzling on moonless nights through the presence of the greatest constellations known in the firmament. In the northern part of the sky are Cassiopeia and the Great Bear (or Dipper), circling round the pole star opposite to one another. Overhead at about 8 o'clock is Perseus, with the Pleiades glittering below him toward the south; west of Perseus is Andromeda, shown by a row of stars, ending in the Great Square of Pegasus. Below the Square, in the west, is Jupiter, the only naked eye planet now in the evening sky—glowing like a golden lamp. Setting in the northwest is the Northern Cross. Low in the north, under the Pole Star, is the crooked form of the great dragon, Draco. East of Perseus, overhead is the bright star Capella in the Charioteer (Auriga). Below Capella and east of the Pleiades is Taurus, bearing both the Pleiades and the Hyades, with red Aldebaran, on his flank and head. The tips of his horns are under the Charioteer, and below them gleams and flashes and glows the wonderful collection of star gems constituting the constellation Orion. Look particularly at the orange-hued Betelgeuse in his shoulder, the diamond-white Rigel on his foot, and the three matched gems of his belt, which are so aligned as to point to the blazing "dog-star," Sirius, high above the southeastern horizon. No other fixed star matches Sirius in splendor. Above Orion, eastward, are the twin stars Castor and Pollux in Gemini, and southeast of them shines the lone star Procyon. Winding through the southern part of the sky, west of and lower than Orion, is the crooked River Po, or Eridanus, and still farther west and somewhat higher the broad form of the huge constellation Cetus, the Whale, whose tail extends to a point under Jupiter.

Having recognized these stars and constellations as well as you can, look at them again a couple of hours later, to see how the rotation of the earth has swept them all westward; and continue your observations night after night until you have made your identifications certain, and have also begun to notice how the earth's revolution around the sun drifts the entire sky westward with a slower motion than that derived from the axial rotation. You will find the stars rising nearly four minutes earlier every night

Conquering

HAVE you ever tried to meet each new day with a thrill?

Glad you are alive, happy to think you have been spared to welcome another day when the sky is cloudy and threatening?

It is on the dark days you must get joy from the promise of sunshine to come or draw from within for your gladness.

How much you might get out of life with a hopeful spirit to greet the dawn.

Why cloud your mental horizon with sodden thoughts of vexatious things?

You hold yourself down with a keen sense of the difficulties of your position.

It stupefies you to consider obstacles.

You are not so handicapped as you might think.

Others have it much worse and still keep cheerful.

Where is your conquering spirit?

If you can control your mind, your temper and your actions you will get through the day with a lot of joy on the balance side.

Your outlook upon life in the morning should be a stabilizer against the annoyances of the day.

To My Friend

UNNUMBERED times you caught and understood
My thought that was but feebly told, at best,
A fragment, voiced in some swift-changing mood,
Yet by your wise discernment soon possessed.

How often did the wish that went unheard
By heedless ears reach yours, so keen and kind!
And, too, sometimes I spoke a cruel word;
But ever to my faults your love was blind.

So I could bring my cherished dreams to you,
Could show you all my longings, unafraid;
And, boon most prized of all, I found you knew
The sacred words, the thoughts I left unsaid!

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The clown in every age has presented, despite his public buffoonery, a tragic sadness in private—from the fabled Pagliacci to the real life Marceline, who was found a month or so ago in a drab side street hotel with a bullet in his head, a suicide.

He had gone the way of Slivers of another day—whose grotesque feet and comic one-man baseball team convulsed thousands all over the world. The mask of the mime has always, it seems, hidden despairing heart aches.

There is that story of a melancholy gentleman visiting a famous English physician. Physically fit, he seemed to carry the woes of the world. "You need amusement," said the doctor, "go to see the famous harlequin at the Drury Lane." The patient replied: "I am that harlequin."

During the war passersby daily saw a solemn little figure perched on the fire escape of the Hippodrome, industriously fashioning sofa pillows out of leather cigaret trophies—the fad of the day. Too old for active service, this was his contribution to the Red Cross salesrooms.

He was little Blutch who made millions laugh with his weird screech as one leg seemed to shorten in his baggy pantaloons when he crossed the stage. It is proverbial that clowns dodge all overtures of human companionship. They seek solitude.

The Fratellinis at the Cirque d'Hiver in Paris have never been seen on the gay boulevards. Idols of the European pleasure seekers, they elect to spend idle hours from the circus ring in a dreary chateau on the fringe of Sevres.

The day of the clown is gone. Movies and other high speed entertainment have shunted them to the back water. The few remaining find occasional engagements at children's parties or private banquets. Eight have killed themselves in the past five years.

* * *

There used to be a little restaurant on Seventh avenue where circus clowns gathered during the winter, but a Sunday feature writer discovered it—and when the curious came the clowns deserted. Clowns are devoted to the game of checkers.

* * *

The underground wars of bootleggers go on. Invasion of new territory is met in the underworld manner—oblivion. Five characters in this incessant battle this winter vanished. In picturesque Broadway argot they were "put on a boat."

* * *

It has been estimated strangers in New York hotels are gypped a million a year, paying for liquor to be shipped to home towns and which is never delivered. The suavest salesmen are engaged in this swindling. They manage to be introduced by responsible people and spin such plausible tales of their ability to deliver that the most cautious are tricked.

* * *

Sunday theatrical performances are a hodge podge of vaudeville and to conform to the law are often designated as "sacred concerts." A "concert" comedian was indulging some jovial commonness recently and one of his jokes became particularly guttery. A disgusted voice in the gallery piped: "That's a sacred one, you big ham!"

* * *

A bearded East Side product has made a small fortune visiting dressing rooms and selling jewelry to performers on the installment plan. He says he has little trouble with his collections save with comedians. "They are honest all right," he says, "but careless." Many of us not comedians are like that.

In a theatrical club the other night a plastered member dropped in, beaming friendliness. His eyes fell upon a talented and lovable young man who came up to prominence from the East Side Ghetto.

"You know I like you," he hiccoughed, encircling him with his arm. "And when they start the killing I'm going to hide you in my house."

Tales That Are Told

Well Drilled

THE Browns were expecting a visit from their pastor. It was the custom of the latter to ask the small children of his flock three questions—their name, age, and, to test their knowledge of right and wrong, he asked them where bad little children went. Mary, the young daughter, had received full instructions from her parents and was quite ready to answer the questions.

The minister arrived, and asked: "What's your name, little girl?"

In her hurry to display her intelligence, Mary answered: "Mary, sir; 5 years old; go to hell."

Woman's Right

FATHER had taken little Egbert to the concert party on the pier, and Egbert was spelling out the program.

"What is a monologue, daddy?" he asked.

"Here it is an entertainment," replied father, "but at home it is a conversation between your mother and myself.

Dominant Mind

MR. HENPECK: "I am thinking of taking a cottage about here."

Farmer: "But don't you think the climate would disagree with your wife?"

"It wouldn't dare."
